

Meet Isabelle.
She's interested in lots of things and she loves to play.

There was only one thing
missing: friends.
She just didn't think she could make friends since she never had a friend before.

Every time she tried to make a friend, her nerves seemed to get in the way.
Isabelle thought to herself, *I don't want the treasures in my treasure jar to be my only friends.
I want to make real friends too!*

When Isabelle got home, her dad asked, “Isabelle, did you have fun?”

Isabelle responded, “Dad, I want to play with friends, not just my treasures.”

Isabelle’s dad nodded and said, “Yes, Isabelle, you will. Friends can be a lot like your treasures. I know you’ll figure it out.”
