

Anxious Andy is a shy boy who is afraid to do the fun things his friends like to do. His friends climb, run, and play, but Anxious Andy's worries always get in the way. He watches his friends swing on the jungle gym. But Anxious Andy is afraid he may fall and scrape his little knee.

The whole class plays soccer on the field, but Anxious Andy sits on the sidelines and worries about missing a pass. The kids shout, "You, over there! Come over! We need one more player!" Anxious Andy wants to hide in a really deep hole. "Oh, I'm not feeling well. I'll just stand over here and watch."
Truthfully, Anxious Andy is afraid he'll stumble, fumble, trip, and fall.
