

Daisy couldn't get to sleep.

Mommy had told her a story and
Daddy had brought her a glass of water.

Then he sang her a song.

It was no use.
Daisy kept

wriggling.

She didn't feel a bit sleepy.

“Close your eyes and tell yourself a story,” said Mommy.
“You’ll soon be fast asleep.”

