

I live on the outskirts of the city
in a shared house with four friends.

I go to the local college.
I want to be a car mechanic.

On Saturday mornings
I work for Royal Mail, delivering post.
On Saturday afternoons I play football.

The background of the page is a stylized illustration of a football pitch. In the top left corner, there is a goal with a net. A player in a blue kit is visible near the goal. The pitch is green with white markings. The sky is blue with some white clouds. The overall style is artistic and somewhat abstract, with splatters and a painterly feel.

I have to get up at five on Saturdays for work.

I collect the mail from the sorting office
and go from door to door.

Today, I'm done by lunchtime.
I cycle home and eat a sandwich.
I down a glass of milk.
Then I grab my sports bag
and my football boots.
