

Welcome!

You are about to experience an amazing journey through childhood. Unlocking memories, learning and playing, gradually growing up and taking shape. From the early discovery of form by using colour blocks to build inroads to your brain, to early mechanical skills designing wooden houses to create your own world. To the use of cardboard boxes to feel encapsulated, exploring creativity, experimenting with paper pulp to craft outlandish shapes. Or modelling with white plaster and clay, decorating a doll house full of romantic stuff. Naturally, the tender animal kingdom is part of the revisited childhood, endearing with its narrative quality and cuddling compassion, making your fingers tingle with anticipation. Driving your hands to doodle figments of imagination or create vibrant paintings and objects, to explore the artist in you.

“I AM NOT YOUNG ENOUGH
TO KNOW
EVERY-THING.”

— James Barrie, author & playwright

