

Rule of Law School

How to get through law school

Rule of Law School

How to get through law school

DANIELA VINKELES MELCHERS

First published in 2019 by
Daniela Vinkeles Melchers

www.ruleoflawsschool.com

© Daniela Vinkeles Melchers 2019

A catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library

The right of Daniela Vinkeles Melchers to be identified as the author of this Work has been asserted by her in accordance with the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988.

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise, without the consent of the copyright owner, application for which should be addressed to the publisher. Such a written permission must also be obtained before any part of this publication is stored in a retrieval system of any nature.

This Work is published for general guidance only and is not intended as a substitute for professional advice. While every care has been taken in the preparation of the text, the publisher and author can accept no responsibility for the consequences of any errors, however caused.

Images: Zdenek Sasek/Cartoon Resource, Shutterstock.com

ISBN: 978-1-9161690-9-8

For my family always,

DVM

Table of Contents

Preface	xi
1 Introduction: law school and your destiny	1
2 Theoretical: how to develop law school skills	5
2.1 Preparation	5
2.1.1 Dealing with a pile of legal books	6
2.1.2 How to find cases and law reports	7
2.1.3 Think like a lawyer and prioritise your workload	8
2.1.4 Mind mapping	10
2.1.5 Model testing	12
2.1.6 Terminology types	18
2.2 Application: essays and dissertation	22
2.2.1 Writing THE piece: choosing a topic	23
2.2.2 Writing your draft statement	26
2.2.3 Structuring your writing	29
2.3 Presentations of justice	32
2.4 How to deal with biased professors or feedback	33
3 Practical: get yourself ready	35
3.1 Going abroad	35
3.1.1 Research, orientate and explore your possibilities	36
3.1.2 Apply, submit and get accepted	38
3.2 Funding or no funding?	41
3.3 Civil law v. common law	43

4	Putting your theory into practice	45
4.1	Gaining experience during law school	45
4.2	Post university	48
4.2.1	What are the options on the job market?	49
4.3	Differences between law firms	54
4.4	What are law firms looking for?	56
5	Get the job	59
5.1	Networking	60
5.2	CV and cover letter	63
5.3	Interview	72
5.3.1	Technical ability: meeting deadlines and delivering results	73
5.3.2	Teamwork and effective communication	73
5.3.3	Commercial awareness	73
5.3.4	Organisation and management	74
6	Law school ratio decidendi	75
	Robert Bourns, 172nd president of the Law Society of England and Wales and former senior partner	75
	Susan Hingley, paralegal at international law firms	76
	Professor Carl Stychin, dean of the City Law School, University of London	77
	Rachael Williams, financial ombudsman	80
	Camilio Morales Saavedra, paralegal	81
	Hannah Bennai, law student	82
	Laura Cucchiara, lawyer	83
7	Rules of law school	85
8	Appendices	87
8.1	Sample of a university application letter	87
8.2	Example cover letters	90
8.2.1	To a law firm via email	90
8.2.2	To another law firm for a placement scheme	92
8.2.3	An email I wrote to a partner directly	93

rule of law school

noun [S] UK /,ru:l əv 'lɔ:/ US /,ru:l əv 'lɑ:/FORMAL a set of rules that people at law school must obey

Preface

Once I completed my master's degree in international commercial law, I felt compelled to write this book because my studies would have been so much easier if someone had told me what to do and how to do it. This book is intended for anyone who is studying law or considering studying law, as well as for their parents. It will give you an insight into how law school works, life outside university and what happens after you have graduated. Law is one of the most challenging subjects, and it's getting tougher each year, so my aim is to counter the trend. Hopefully, I can make the process of completing your studies easier and more time efficient.

In my first class at law school, the professor said: "Look left and right – these people will not get through law school at the end of this year. You are now part of the university, and you have to start thinking like a lawyer. This means that you have full responsibility to figure out on your own how the system works." This line scared everybody, and that's exactly what the professor wanted! Fear not – it doesn't have to be this way. I will give you study tips on how to prioritise your work and save you time so that you can make the most of student life.

You might be considering going abroad during your studies, and this is also a task that requires time, energy and good preparation. I moved abroad for my master's degree to enhance my chances