Losing your love

Losing your love would destroy my life
My world would crumble
Beautiful dreams would become nightmares
All the time I'd fall and stumble

Stars would no longer have their wonderful spark
I'd no longer know the difference between night and day
Cause the sky would be forever dark
If you'd ever go away

My heart would break in tons of pieces, spread on the floor
No one would be able to fix it and put them back together
Your love would be the only cure

Boy, if your love for me ever stops
My visions of the future would disappear
My eyes would drown in their own teardrops
All the time I'd live in fear
Heaven would turn into hell
Angels would become devils who'd fill my soul with pain
And I'd be under an incurable spell
Cause thoughts of you would drive me insane

Boy, if I should ever lose your love please let me know Cause then I'm gonna do whatever it takes to stop you from letting me go
I'll fight for you like no one else ever did
Cause I don't ever want to see us split !!
