Dear Milyanne,

I have been thinking a lot lately and I realised that this might be too much to handle for you.
But I want to let you know that I will always be here for you when you need me.

Whenever you need me, say my name,
whenever you are sad, close your eyes,
whenever you are lost, walk my path,
whenever you say my name I will come.

There isn't a lot left to say...
But hey!! This is not a goodbye,
no this is a hello my friend!

Lots of love,

Melle

Please do not take me there...

Do not ask me why, but I like you... I really do!
You have the most beautiful smile.
The most gorgeous eyes.

But I can't....
I don't know why.
I really want to tell you what I feel for you.
I want to tell you what I really feel for you, but I can't.
I am scared of the things that will happen.
I am scared that I am not good enough for you.
I am scared to fail.
I am scared to fall down.
I am scared that I am not beautiful enough.
I am scared that I am not smart enough.
I am scared that I will not be the type of girl you will fall for.
I am scared that you will reject me for who I really am.

You said you liked me.
But I can tell that she's still on your mind.
I can see the pain in your eyes whenever you talk about her.
But girl please, you have to believe me when I say that what I feel for you is real.
With pain in my heart, I'll step aside and back down.

Here I go, my journey begins, once again.
My pain is overrated.
Once again, the failure is too big.
All the secrets I carry, buried in my soul.
The regrets I have are the chances I didn't get.
The pain I feel is hard to understand.
There's no way to show the cage I'm stuck in.
Skies as black as my heart.
Tears dripping down from my face to the bottom of my soul.
An endless ride to the middle of nowhere.
Here I go, I left my heart on the floor.
As it is rotten, as it is gone.
From now on, until forever.

And then silence came in like thunder.
You looked so beautiful,
so pretty,
so gorgeous.
You had eyes like fire
and a smile like thunder, a body like rain
and lips like sweet roses.
Every time I see you
I want to kiss those lips of yours.
I got so many stories to tell you,
but whenever I see you....
Silence hits me like thunder.
I have so many things to tell you....
Tomorrow... Tomorrow will be the day....
Tomorrow will be my now or never!

Whenever I see your smile,
I drown in a pool of love.
I wish this feeling could last forever.
