

WOLFGUARD IN THE DARK

I JENNINGS

WOLFGUARD
IN THE DARK

I JENNINGS

PROLOGUE

The kingdoms of Wolfguard and East Landly had been at war with the armies of the north for a number of years. East Landly's royal family had been headed by King Henry at the start of the Ice Wars, but he and his wife were among the first casualties.

It all started due to an unprovoked attack on East Landly's outlying settlements. The alliance of the two kingdoms was strengthened through the impact the wars had on both of their peoples. The ensuing war almost destroyed both of the kingdoms. The kingdom of East Landly was now ruled by King Eric, the son of the late King Henry.

Wolfguard itself was now ruled by Princess Winter. Her father was still living but in severely bad health so he had abdicated and named his eldest daughter as the kingdoms ruler.

CHAPTER 1

BLACK WIDOW

She moved up in the bed and turned onto her back. The orc moved down her body, spread her legs and started to kiss her thigh. Eve put her hands on the back of the creatures head and angled him towards her pussy. His forked tongue flicked over her clitoris. Eve started to moan as the orc delved his tongue deep inside her. He flicked it in quick succession deep inside her. Then he returned his concentration to her clitoris. A few moments later the orc kneeled up on the bed “prepare to be bred you worthless elfish bitch” he grunted. As the orc pressed his penis into her moist pussy Eve lent forward, drew the knife from under the pillow and slit the orcs throat so deeply his head was almost severed from his body. The orcs limp body dropped down on her. “Not today” Eve spat out in reply “but thanks for the fun.” Eve pushed the dead orc off her, got up and dressed. Then she left the room and went down to the tavern for a drink to wash the taste of the creature out of her mouth.

The war had ended just over a year ago and though the Ice Army had been almost wiped out some orcs, that survived the war, now lived in peace in the three kingdoms. This hadn't stopped Eves' burning desire to wipe them from the world. It was this driving goal that burned within her when she made her decision to resign from the Elvish Army and become an assassin, targeting orcs.

Soon after the end of the war the kingdoms of Wolfguard and East Landly has been rebuilt and under the guidance and leadership of Princes Winter Wolfguard had flourished. The Ice Queens kingdom to the north and just under half of the enchanted forest had been given to the elves by Winter and King Eric as reward for helping them in the great struggle. The areas old ruler the Ice Queen was still languishing within the dungeons of Wolfguard. Winters father died just over six months after the final battle at the capital where he was wounded. His wound had been infected by a poison off the orc blade that had penetrated his armour, and he had a long drawn out death.

Eve took another shot of her drink and then signalled the bartender. “My friend is asleep and shouldn’t be disturbed he has had a busy night.” The barman laughed. “We all heard elvish whore. Don’t worry we won’t disturb your client.” He laughed again and then carried on serving his clientele. Eve left the Unicorn Inn and mounted her steed. She turned northward and made for the citadel.

As she rode up to the new elvish capital the gates opened. “I am here to see the queen” Eve informed on of the guards. “This way” they replied and she was taken into the inner sanctum of the newly built Citadel. The throne room doors opened and Eve walked in behind two guards that had been posted outside the room.

“Welcome friend, May I ask what brings you back here” the elvish queen asked. Eve smiled “I just thought I would visit my old friend Lisa, what’s strange about that”. The pair smiled at each other. “Well let me finish here and we can catch up. It’s not that often I am graced with a visit from a bounty hunter and assassin, well not one that I can turn my back on and still feel completely safe” Lisa joked.

The pair spent the afternoon chatting. “I wish you were staying longer” Queen Lisa finally said as Eve said she had to leave. “Your visits aren’t frequent anymore and they have never been for more than a couple of days. Remember this is your home when you want it to be.” Eve hugged her friend and left the citadel.