Foreword: When I was younger I was always writing stories and poems at my grandparents' house.

Going into my teenage years the words of others hurt and I became ashamed of my writing because it wasn't 'socially acceptable'.

After ten years a lot has changed and after growing as a person, I realised that everyone will always have opinions, but I shouldn't let that effect my happiness. So, I picked up a pen and haven't stopped since.
