Chapter 1: The Beginning

It was 7AM, the alarm of Dila's phone vibrated as the sunrise came up after a good sleep. Dila grabbed her phone, as she pressed "stop" on her alarm. She groaned as she muttered "My lord, today I got exams, and I'm NOT in the mood for that.” She forced herself to get up, her silky blanket slipping off of her. She puts her slippers on as she walks to the closet to get dressed for the day. She picked out a baggy black shirt, with “L bozo” letters on the shirt along with the baggy jeans, and some Adidas sneakers. After that she got
