INTRODUCTION

The Cosmic Library

The Cosmic Library is a growing collection of stories, insights and worlds that together form one living whole.

Each book is its own universe, written from a unique perspective, yet connected by the same core: awareness, imagination and the invitation to look beyond the visible.

This book is part of 11.11 The Cosmic Library.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First of all, thank you to the Source of all perception, to the silence in which meaning arises, and to the light that not only makes things visible, but also reveals what had been present all along.

Thank you to all readers of The Cosmic Library - to the seekers, the dreamers, the quiet feelers, to those who kept sensing that more exists between letters, between glances, between breaths, between the visible and the almost invisible.

Thank you to everyone who has ever felt that a room was telling them something, that a sentence kept glowing, that a hand was more than a hand, that a word opened more than meaning alone.

And above all, thank you to you, dear reader. Without your eyes, these words remain signs. Without your attention, these pages remain still. You are the one who opens this book. And perhaps, just perhaps, you are also the one through whom this book allows itself to be read.
