Dear Explorers,

Obstacles, complex conditions, and the behavior of inadequacy will prevail. Perhaps we may suggest that there are enormous and heavier forces that show in our routine activities, we call >life.

Frequently, we neglect to seek towards ourselves, our own understanding, and to value ourselves. It is nice to acknowledge that each expression educates another to illustrate themselves and to endure.

You and I can get substantially better by making significant steps and create an enjoyable present in this way of behavior. We had experience today! Not yesterday, not tomorrow, but right now. Grab your chance, search inside yourself, become to appreciate yourself, investigate yourself and claim what is within you >your internal strength.

I would love to address you for your appeal in

The Internal Black Star

ReflectSophia

"The curriculum of reflective wisdom, ReflectSophia".

The Internal Black Star stands for:

A lively way of learning, analyzing, and performing.

An intimate quest for the significant achievement of your courage >your inner strength. Personal quest characterizes reflection.

Reflection is the analysis of an organized observation of performance and feedback to a prepared result >Inflection of actions in a relationship between creating, obtaining and sustaining internal strength within the act of performing.

"The curriculum of reflective wisdom, ReflectSophia".

ReflectSophia

Meaning

The curriculum of reflective wisdom.

Decomposition into coherence

Curriculum: Your personal learning plan, to gain insights within your personal system.

Reflective: An image, a reflection of yourself, within your personal system. Your inner attitude.

Wisdom: The potential to make your thoughts, emotions and actions tangible. Your capability to create.

Terminology

The potential of inner attitude to create throughout your personal learning plan.

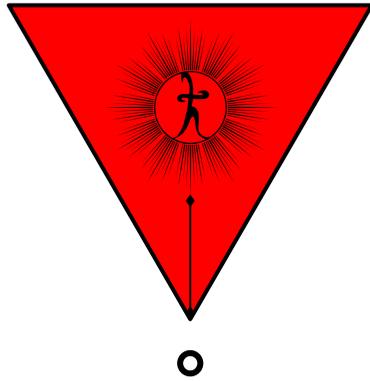

Code of Conduct

The members of The Internal Black Star work according to X. rules of conduct. The purpose of this is to get and keep the behaviour of members and professionals within ethically desirable standards.

Code of conduct internal and external:

- I. Make sure you feel safe and secure.
- II. Respect is perceptible in your attitude.
- III. Choose to operate at the highest level.
- IV. Be clear within your actions.
- V. Take an anti-discriminatory attitude.
- VI. Be aware of your own words, attitude and actions.
- VII. Be alert to privacy-sensitive information.
- VIII. Check your own quality regularly. You do this through reflection.
- IX. Act according to the law of your environment.
- X. Be important at all times.

Foundation

I realized the foundation of The Internal Black Star between 1994 and 2000. In critical conditions, the sole path out is to manage your strength, which is the base of the foundation. The potential within >Energy.

In crucial conditions, I meant the living conditions that eclipse your process of understanding, feeling, and creating. Your attitude. Generated strength influences attitude to adjust something and to make something.

I need an effective part to manage my strength and to provoke this energy. This necessary part is demand. Your understanding managed demand and behavior.

Reasoning and behavior are a view of personality and its effect on your routine actions. How one views development is the way one moves. The direction we determine is the direction we lead. In both terms, the decision takes the lead.

To decide to take a step, it takes courage. Your willpower determines the size, length, and depth of your courage. The clearer your willpower, the greater your courage and the firmer your steps are in development.

The Internal Black Star concentrates further on the internal than the external. However, the external is not ignored, because you are part of this way of life and life is part of your presence. Everything carries a relationship with each other. Everything applies to a wholesome, and we arrange this whole into divisions in our expectations.

The question is, what can you reply to this whole? Are you conscious of your strength? Where do you need to go? Are you ready to take significant steps?

The Internal Black Star looks at possibilities. Possibilities to Create, Obtain and Sustain. The internal sphere and external sphere examines opportunities within the personal system.

Personal system

The personal system is its ordered whole, its composition of parts >internal sphere and external sphere. A private system devised within the universal law. We are united. We are part of everything, and everything is in us as structure.

Internal sphere

The internal sphere is the space and volume within your thoughts, which you have created. The expansion that you take >by yourself, within the discipline of your thoughts. What you appreciate and fantasize about.

Your internal system, in which you move. You can direct thoughts, give direction and ultimately make them tangible. Members of The Internal Black Star work in a certain way.

Details are important in this way of working. Details within the mind. The motive behind your train of thought. Motive is something personal. The Internal Black Star is mystical, because they share precisely not everything to achieve certain goals. There is a certain line of thought within The Internal Black Star and it read as:

“From silence, I work. Within the space of silence, I create reality. I move on in silence. I reflect in silence.”

The strength of the outside influences your way of thinking, feeling, and performing. The power from the inside affects the forces from the outside, so it is important not to share everything and or to say something.

There will always be outside interests and are ready to take over if you are not considerate. The Internal Black Star is not spontaneous relief, but a conscious choice to act in a certain way. A way of thinking, feeling, and creating. Be aware of your appearance, be aware of your attitude!

External sphere

The external sphere is a combination of stimuli, triggers, and external circumstances. This combination of stimuli, triggers and circumstances affects your focus, willpower and the outcome of your creation.

The external sphere acts by your attitude towards yourself and towards another within and/or outside your system.

To understand part of the external sphere, it is important to supervise and manage your radiation. In this way, you attract certain and targeted parts of the external sphere.

The external sphere demands your perspective on spaces that are visible and invisible systems out of your reach, that vividly exert forces on your system and, thus, your internal sphere.

Do you wish to be out of control? Do you prefer circumstances to determine your path? Or do you want to have power over your thinking, feeling, and performing?

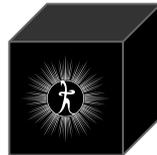

Stop reading for a moment and ask yourself, what do I choose?...

Resume

The foundation of The Internal Black Star is based on the investigation of self-power; your attitude, your perspective on yourself in your environment and the endless ability to create >making your thoughts tangible, through advanced willpower, that overshadows your fears.

The Internal Black Star expresses thoughts that have become tangible. And yes, part of The Internal Black Star is mystical, because there are outside forces and or behaviours (ways of thinking and or motives) that you cannot dominate, but cooperate with.

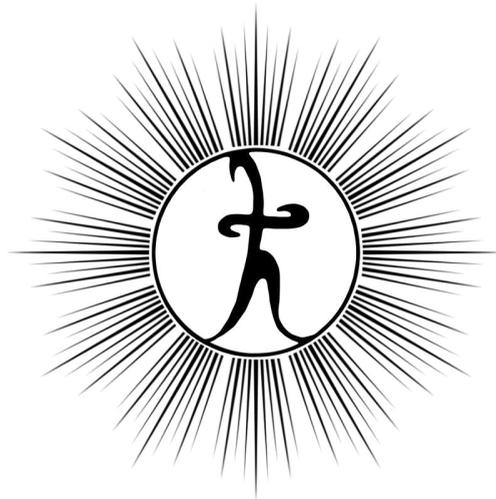

Believe in yourself, express yourself, and create. You and I are creators in our routine exercises that we call > life.

Symbol

The symbol of The Internal black Star reflects the various territories within the philosophical principles of the organization. The symbol tells more than M (1000) words.

The symbol carries a combination of different emotions because the symbol comes from different emotions and specific aspects of visualizations. In this book, we dissect the symbol into III segments. In this way, the symbol is described in words, but again the symbol says more than M words and the image of the symbol is decisive per person. The symbol is used to generate senses and illustrate motivation. Below is the symbol of The Internal Black Star:
