Allow me to introduce:

Let me introduce myself nicely: My name is Cor, I grew up in various places in the Netherlands, we moved around quite often. By profession, I am a research technician. My specialization in a broad sense are visualization techniques. I am fascinated by God's creation and how He has beautifully realized everything within His perfectly set laws of nature and the beautiful firmament that tells the works of His hands. Happily married to my beautiful wife Nelma, my mainstay, in charge of many control activities, a jack-of-all-trades who largely takes care of our four children. Fortunately, she grants me the time and space to write this book for which I am very grateful.

During my childhood my father ran evangelical bookshops in various places in the Netherlands (which was the reason we moved around quite often). My mother always had children's work on her mind, so I was brought up religiously but at some point I felt it was important to investigate whether Christianity was right. That was the beginning of a long journey and rollercoaster of wonderful discoveries I was allowed to make.

My Father on my mother's side was a boatman and had an entire Library, a well-read man and was already steeped in the fact that Jesus will soon return to earth. In his younger days, my father published a Holy Spirit-inspired booklet called, The Bridegroom Comes. So from the generation line of both my mother's and father's side, there was interest and search for the return of Jesus Christ. At the beginning of my long journey of discovery, I developed an appetite for the Word. When I read the Bible, texts became three-dimensional, so to speak. In particular, the prophetic books were unlocked for me. What had previously been bloody, violent & ominous texts turned into texts that God kept His people on the right path precisely through judgement and discipline. In this, the prophets were and are God's messengers who prophesied warnings of what would happen if the people did not repent. When people repented, prophecies of doom were postponed, relieved or lifted. I saw that God has been working on a restoration plan for humanity for thousands of years. But also that God is carrying out many restoration steps in a kind of hiddenness.

Isaiah 45:

¹⁵Truly You are God, who hide Yourself, O God of Israel, the Savior!

I was allowed to receive many valuable insights from God during this journey, I have come to realize that God has total omnipotence and that His plans of restoration and completion lie again behind the nefarious plans of the adversary. He can even use evil to work out good. What was also a very interesting discovery was that God timed everything to His divine timing. I came to the incredible discovery that throughout history, numerous divine timelines run from divine sign/prophetic restoration to divine sign/prophetic restoration. That God has, as it were, encoded these divine timelines with numbers corresponding to key Biblical texts, so called principles. Later in the book we will elaborate more on these timelines. That God thereby shows, as it were, that all power belongs to Him and that He ultimately has total control over world events. That everything is in His hand and that He will not let go of the works of His hands.

I also had the privilege of discovering that there are still numerous contemporary Divine messengers (Modern Day Prophets) carrying God's messages. And that the Bible offers the tools (along with the anointing of God's Spirit) to distinguish the true from the false prophets. This is also one of the reasons I like to give space to the voice of God through His prophets in this book. The fulfillment of these prophetic messages are presented, as far as possible, in a chronological order so that you get a picture of what you, as reader, can expect in the next two years (detailed) and the following years of the great things that God is carrying out.

You are presented with God's world news, so to speak, well before it is worldly (headline) news. Here the scripture passage from Isaiah 46 (next page) is very much in place:

Isaiah 46:

⁹ Remember the former things, those of long ago; I am God, and there is no other; I am God, and there is none like me.

¹⁰ I make known the end from the beginning, from ancient times, what is still to come. I say, 'My purpose will stand, and I will do all that I please.'

Despite the, at first glance, worrying & turbulent times, there will be a great awakening of mankind with an associated great worldwide revival of the body of Christ, His church. I would like to take you, the reader, on a wonderful journey of great things God is doing now, and what incredible things He will do in the very near future. A future that you and I will be in the midst of.

General Preface: — Voices modern day Prophets: Visions, Prophecies & Dreams

Do you believe in a God? And I don't just mean a god doing his own thing in some vague place, some kind of vague force somewhere. No I mean a super omnipotent God who is also passionate about getting a deep living relationship with His Creatures, YOU! Who wants to use YOU to build His kingdom. If you do not know God, it is highly advisable to start by reading the first four books of the Bible of the New Testament, Mathew, Mark, Luke & John, that paints a beautiful picture, how much God cares for you and that He wants real friendship with you. It is possible to be employed by an almighty God and live a life that has real value, a life that has full meaning, having real valuable relationships with fellow brothers and sisters. To build as living stones (The body of Christ) for the imperishable kingdom to come. This is very different from just trying to figure out on your own what you can best do in life to hopefully make something meaningful out of it. That, if you try hard enough, with a bit of luck, you will be mentioned in the annals of history. This book shows that God really exists, that He is super creative, intelligent and all-powerful but also a God in the background in the hidden as it were, read Isaiah 45:15. 2022 was already a turbulent year with all the weather extremes, food shortages and a war in the Ukraine that is becoming more and more grotesque but is nothing compared to the year 2023. But in all this turbulence, God is rolling out His almighty plan of salvation for mankind with surgical precision, and this is bound to be accompanied by upheavals. These upheavals are necessary to chop off the head of the evil that is now rampant behind the scenes. There will be astonishing unmasking of dark plans in the year 2023. Already you can see Elon Musk, with his takeover of Twitter, rolling out the dark practices, such as the collusion of Big Tech companies to de-platform people or the 2020 election interference scandal revealed in the twitter files.

If you look now at what is currently going on in the world, building tensions between major power blocs like NATO on the one hand and China, Russia, the BRIC countries Iran & OPEC on the other, you may be shocked. But these times too are foretold in the Bible, read

Matthew 24: 6-8

And you will hear of wars and rumours of wars. See that you are not troubled; for all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet. For nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. And there will be famines, pestilences, and earthquakes in various places. All these are the beginning of sorrows.

So it is just the very beginning of what we can expect! So what specifically can we expect in 2023? That is largely what this book is about, to be read in the next passage:

Voices modern-day Prophets: Visions, Prophecies & Dreams

It says in Amos 3:7 that God does nothing without revealing it to His servants the prophets. So He tells it first and only then proceeds to do it. That He does it that way is to also give people a chance to repent of their evil ways. As you saw, among other things, in the Bible book Jonah and the city of Nineveh. The king and the people of the city of Nineveh repented of their evil ways and God spared the city.

Similarly, high-ranking leaders have a chance to break with the globalist agendas they now fully support and seek to implement.

The big question is whether they will actually do that. It seems to me that they feel untouchable, highly exalted above the people and that their hearts are hardened, just as was the case with Pharaoh in Egypt, Who did not want to let God's people go either, preferring to exploit them as slaves, eventually ten severe plagues followed and Pharaoh let the people go. An exodus from Egypt (exodus) followed under God's mighty hand. There is a very strong parallel in these Biblical events and what God is currently bringing about. He is phasing us out of the globalist agenda that the rulers of this world are desperately trying to implement.

What God intends to do He tells us through His servants the prophets. The tricky thing, however, is that prophetic messages reflect only part of the overall picture, sometimes very detailed and over a short span of time, sometimes, on the contrary, very expansive in time and less detailed. Sometimes a prophecy actually highlights the spiritual struggles of an unseen but oh so realistic world. And sometimes certain events are skipped altogether, as if a cut in time has been made. A striking example of this can be found in the Bible:

Isaiah 9:

*⁶For unto us a Child is born, Unto us a Son is given;
And the government will be upon His shoulder.
And His name will be called Wonderful, Counsellor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.*

This is of course about Jesus, but what is completely missing here is that Jesus was also beaten on the cross for our sins and died for our sins, to pay the debt for us.

This is why many Jews did not understand at all what was going on, they thought that their saviour, Jesus would become the great king of Israel, that He would ensure long-lasting peace and prosperity and free them from Roman rule. Jesus in His loving grace explained this to the Emmaus goers, a very beautiful piece, to be read in the Bible: Luke 24:13-40.

My understanding is that God can emphasise a particular subject to one prophetic messenger. For example; the subject of encouragement or victory and revival. The same prophetic message may then also briefly addresses the spiritual purification process through judgements, but that is not the emphasis. From what I understand, it is also possible that another prophetic messenger may be given the same prophetic event viewed from a different angle, and that precisely there the emphasis is on the spiritual purification process that can be triggered by judgements. And that now encouragement, victory and revival are summarily highlighted. At first glance, both prophetic messages seem totally at odds with each other, but if one considers that they are prophesied from different perspectives, a similarity can again be found.

It may also be that prophetic messages are mixed with human beliefs or sometimes indoctrinations that have been ingrained for many years, in which case we can classify them as impure prophecies. To make matters even more confusing, there are also "prophetic" messengers who have been misled by the weathercaster and receive messages given from the wrong angle. The cleverness of the enemy, the evil one, the adversary is to weave misleading messages into existing fallacies. The recipient, may then be under the belief that he is prophesying a divine message. And to complicate matters further, you also have unadulterated liars who are out for their own gain and have a good sense of which "prophetic" themes score well with their audience and thus run successful media outlets with the intention of getting income from them, the wolves in sheep's clothing.

A purely Holy Spirit-inspired message regarding impending judgement can call for repentance from evil ways. If one heeds this prophetic message and repents and asks forgiveness and repents from evil ways, God in His loving grace can decide to soften, lessen or even cancel the calamity. In that case, the pronounced message of calamity ultimately accomplishes itself reduced or not at all. Should now the prophetic messenger be classified as a false prophet because his uttered prophecy did not come true? Certainly not! Prophetic messages are by no means always cast in concrete is my belief. All this makes prophecies quite complex. But of course far too beautiful to be ignored because of the complexity. So we are going to summarise the prophetic messages that I believe are pretty purely inspired by the Holy Spirit as best we can chronologically to be allowed to get a preview of God's future news, of His story that will lead us through turbulent, challenging times to a final great worldwide revival in which we will be offered the opportunity to be allowed to labour in His vineyard, or in other words make disciples to the glory of our Saviour.

Jeremiah 29:

^HFor I know the thoughts that I think toward you, says the LORD, thoughts of peace and not of evil, to give you a future and a hope.

So herewith I sketch, based on how I have been given to interpret the prophetic messages as best I can, a picture of what we can expect in 2023:

Mid-year, the Biden administration will fall, There will be a major coverup of the fact that Joe Biden has died, his double will also die.

Kamala Harris will first play along (through blackmail) in the play that Joe Biden's doppelganger takes over but will eventually be unable to stomach this and bring out the truth. Chris Reed saw Kamala Harris for a short term at the helm of the United States. Later, with the help of the US military, Donald J. Trump will return to power. Divine pattern-based research indicates that the fall of the Biden administration (start of the big cover-up) begins around mid-July, 2023 and that Donald J. Trump is miraculously brought to power by God (with help of the military).

As a writer, I expect that around August, 2023, Trump will return to power with help of the military. Also US states will secede from the federal government in protest. ...Chris Reed saw in a vision that Donald Trump and Ron DeSantis will battle it out in the Republican primary...

Chinese bribery will be exposed and it will be shocking how much their tentacles have been involved in all the nations, many of the nations of the Earth. Yes even in American politics, how it helped swing the 2020 election and it will come to light and will be undeniable. This will be tied in, the Chinese influence and bribery and influence, with the hunter Biden laptop Scandal, which will go in Full Exposure... it will tie Joe to all of these things.

This year 2023, A lot of amazing things will happen, it will start with a mega earthquake in the Cascadia Subduction Zone in the North Pacific Ocean, the West Coast of the USA will be severely affected, especially the State of California, this will also result in economic shockwaves, Biblical pattern based research is pointing to end of July (27th July 2023). I also expect to see asteroid impacts, also some kind of asteroid shower, probably around October 31th.

Pattern based research indicates that it is very possible that around August 31th 2023 the first asteroid will strike in the Caribbean sea, close by to Puerto Rico. The second one around October 31th 2023 in the North Atlantic, Both impacts will generate mega tsunamis, devastating shore lines. The first Asteroid impact will result in mega tsunami's flooding the state of Florida. Also Cape Town in South Africa will be flooded, in total tens of millions of people will die during these troubling times, these times of awe. Besides this severe weather conditions will also take its toll, drought, flooding, too much heat, crops that are wasted resulting in food shortages.

A further intensification of wars; the proxy war in Ukraine between NATO & Russia, helped by China and Iran will further intensify over time. There is expected to be a spring event (Israel-Iran probably) that will give an introduction to a devastating Middle East war, this will be the war described in Isaiah 17, Psalm 83 and Zechariah 11:1-3.

Chris Reed saw in a vision a sudden air strike from Israel against Iran and the target will be a nuclear developing facility in Iran and I believe what I saw in the vision, it was the Bushehr nuclear plant in Iran that was suddenly hit by Israel's military because of the enrichment and the development of nuclear weapons...

As a result of this event, another devastating Middle East war will eventually happen, as a result of which the economy will totally collapse. I expect that this war will take place in a 33 day time-window, counted from Rosh Hashanah, September 16, to October 18th 2023. Sustained high inflation/ money devaluation will result in a decline in purchasing power.

As a result, food will become increasingly expensive. This sustained rise in food prices will be exacerbated by global weather extremes that will adversely affect food production. Crop yields will also be reduced due to insect pests that will spread around. Diseases among livestock will also further drive up prices of meat, dairy and eggs. It certainly won't hurt to stock up on emergency supplies of long-life food in advance.

Food shortages will further increase, among other things, by banning fertilisers (nitrogen policy) and sabotaging food storage deposes. These food shortages will manifest sharply in the months of September, October and December 2023.

Chris Reed saw that 2023 will be a year of revolution around the world, food shortages, especially in third world countries, they will be hit the hardest, the poorer nations unfortunately. This is making sense because the NOW wants to control the food system and thereby the people. Only good behaving people (the docile sheep's), integrated to the system, will have more access to food. Probably to GMO food and food with insects additives, in the long run bad for the health. Chris Reed saw Mexico and South America being hit with these food chain shortages and food supply shortages. As a result a worsening immigration problem will be coming across the American Southern border. It will get worse in the illegal immigrant immigration situation and will culminate into an epic border crisis slash showdown.

He also saw, unfortunately, African nations experiencing bad food shortages and migrants not just from Central and South America coming to America but migrants coming from Africa into Europe. As a consequence there will be a the tipping point for the United States Southern border crisis.

Chris Reed saw major flooding in the eastern part of the United States and particularly saw a dam bust in the natural, this caused severe flooding, this can be a sign in the natural. The dam that's about to break of all of the corruption in our government and lies and all of that will not be able to be held up anymore, it's mounting up...

It's also very possible that God will cripple America by natural disasters, especially the West and East coast, were there is a high concentration of democratic strongholds situated. Events were I found prophecies about were telling about big earthquakes hitting California State. Currently there is a major stress build-up in the Cascadia subduction zone. If released, this stress could trigger a very severe earthquake as well as a large water displacement, tsunami. Big Tec Companies located in Silicon Valley can be crumbled by this event.

On the UB ready YouTube Channel prophetic words were streamed regarding an eruption of the St. Reinier Volcano not too far from Washington. After a big earthquake in the Cascadian subduction zone/San Andreas Fault line this Volcano can maybe becoming active..

Another prophetic message was about a celestial event. A coronal mass ejection of the sun. That produces a very large solar flare that could damage a lot of electronics. Or cripple the energy grid in America. If America "happens" to be pointing exactly at the sun when this event occurs.

A presidential election will be organised and held on 7 November 2023. Trump will win these by more than 100 million votes. Before these elections take place, tsunamis will inundate cities located on the east coast of America. It is possible that these tsunamis are the result of an asteroid impact that will take place around 31 October 2023. Some prophetic messenger's saw also meteor showers. It is also quite possible that artificial tsunamis, are created by Russian Poseidon nukes.

In this book some prophecies are included of an asteroid crashing into the Atlantic Ocean approximately 500 mile offshore between Puerto Rico and North Carolina creating a mega tsunami. This Tsunami will flood the Eastern coast of the USA.

I expect new viruses/biological weapons to be unleashed on the world's population, and new vaccination programmes to be deployed. These viruses/biological weapons will also leave deep scars in Europe. By God's hand, these pathogens will backfire on the people who introduced these biological weapons.

Italy is also expected to be heavily affected by asteroid impacts, the Mediterranean sea will rise to unexplainable heights and Italian islands will be partially inundated. But the rising of the Mediterranean sea can also happen much later in time.

With tsunamis flooding US coastal cities, God is reckoning with the "Democratic" camp that will again try to steal the election. After Trump's election victory is obvious, the globalists will deploy their far left shock troops, including BLM troops, to create chaos and anarchy that way.

To make things worse, bring America to its knees, there is also a major devastating earthquake centrally planned in America that will rip open the New Madrid fault, which is roughly where the epicenter is located. Pattern based research indicates mid-December. As a result, the Mississippi River will widen tremendously and the Great Lakes will connect to the Gulf of Mexico.

In this way, the united nations of America will be split. Why all this misery, you readers may wonder. An answer can be found in the Bible:

Joel 3:

² I will gather all the nations and bring them down to the Valley of Jehoshaphat. There I will enter into judgment against them concerning My people, My inheritance, Israel, whom they have scattered among the nations as they divided up My land.

On October 30th, 1991 President George H. W. Bush opened the Madrid Peace Conference which brought Israelis and Palestinians together to negotiate for the very first time. Bush told Israel that "territorial compromise is essential for peace".

I am convinced that God is timing everything on His divine time lines, And He's using Biblical scripture, Biblical "principles" on His divine timelines, why? Because He deserves all the Glory. To point out that God has the ultimate control in everything. What kind of 'principles' you may ask, well you may think about Biblical 'Highlights', for instance Genesis 1:1, John 1:1, Revelation 1:1 and an important name for Jesus, namely: Lord Jesus Christ, also Logos (the Word) can be seen as a 'principle'.

An very interesting time line I will present is the following, I expect that the devastating earthquake, ripping open the New Madrid Fault will happen on December 12th 2023, after meddling with Israel again to divide her land.

Time duration counted from the start of the Madrid "Peace" Conference, happened on October 30th 1991, all the way to December 12th 2023, expected devastating central earthquake to happen, ripping open the New Madrid Fault and splitting the USA, precisely 11,732 days are involved.

$$11,732 = 804 + 2685 + 7491 + 1035 - 283$$

Genesis 1:1	gematrical value in Full Ordinal Hebrew is	804
John 1:1	gematrical value in Full Ordinal Greek is	2685
Revelation 1:1	gematrical value in Full Ordinal Greek is	7491
Lord Jesus Christ	gematrical value in Full Ordinal Greek is	1035

When China and Russia see how divided America is they will launch their long-planned invasion. The time on which this invasion will begin is expected to happen during Christmas 2023.

Before this invasion, China will lay siege to Taiwan, much to the dismay of European leaders. America will strike at the bait and come to Taiwan's aid with its fleet. China will fire an atomic bomb towards America and it will be deliberately detonated centrally over America, high in the atmosphere. This will generate an electromagnetic pulse (EMP) that will fry practically all electronics in America.

America will then be rendered wingless and ripe for invasion.

Los Angeles and the entire state of California will be used as a military base by Chinese forces. Traitors in the Pentagon will pave the way to enable this Chinese capture. Also, Fort Hood, a large military base in the state of Texas, from where America will be liberated again, will be temporarily bombarded by Russian MIG's.

The Chinese/Russian occupation of America will fortunately be short-lived, liberation will come up from the south. Texas will play a major role in this. Trump is expected to be inaugurated at an undisclosed location on 20 January 2024 and lead America to its liberation.

As a result of all those events America will look very different from what it looks like today. The US currency will also depreciate significantly, eventually forming a new US currency as a result.

Then, in mid-2024, a terrible pandemic may break out that will eventually claim 350 million lives. Simultaneously with these world-shaking events, God will bring a last great revival over this world, which will last several years. Meanwhile, Satan will again lay the seeds of apostasy in this last great revival.

In 2029, to be precise October 31, 2029 then begins the last year week, the year-week of the antichrist, 2520 days. Before then, the task is to labour as much as possible in the vineyard of God and thus win souls for His kingdom, a noble task to which you may contribute, a very great advantage is that you already know all this and have opportunity to ground yourself in His Word and His presence so that you are unshaken for the times to come. People will look to you with eager anticipation as you, as a servant of God, bring peace to the hearts of men. During the last great revival, the harvest is ripe and great, will you labour in it?

Matthew 9:

³⁷ Then He said to His disciples, "The harvest truly is plentiful, but the labourers are few. ³⁸ Therefore pray the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into His harvest."

Romans 8:

¹⁹ For the earnest expectation of the creation eagerly waits for the revealing of the sons of God. ²⁰ For the creation was subjected to futility, not willingly, but because of Him who subjected it in hope; ²¹ because the creation itself also will be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God. ²² For we know that the whole creation groans and labours with birth pangs together until now.

America's days are numbered, time is running out

Zechariah 2:

⁶ "Up, up! Flee from the land of the north," says the Lord; "for I have spread you abroad like the four winds of heaven," says the Lord. ⁷ "Up, Zion! Escape, you who dwell with the daughter of Babylon." ⁸ For thus says the Lord of hosts: "He sent Me after glory, to the nations which plunder you; for he who touches you touches the apple of His eye. ⁹ For surely I will shake My hand against them, and they shall become spoil for their servants. Then you will know that the Lord of hosts has sent Me.

This Bible piece is very appropriate for America, the nation that can be seen as a daughter of Babylon.

America has always benefited from China, which carried America's currency for a long time and produced goods with which America could enrich itself. One can also think of maintaining the petrodollar which allowed America to import oil in large quantities, for importing fuel one can also think of Russia:

In 2021, Russia accounted for 21% of all U.S. gasoline and other refined petroleum imports, with Canada second at 17%, according to U.S. Census Bureau data. Much of that was so-called bunker fuel, a by-product of the refining process.

But this lucrative trade for America will soon come to an end...America will become spoil for their servants....(Zechariah 2 verse 9).

Over the past several decades, whenever the U.S. government has taken a major step toward the division of the land of Israel it has suffered major disasters:

On March 22, 1979 US Pres Jimmie Carter did not side with Israel and veto UN Resolution 446 claiming Israel illegally 'occupied' territories since 1967.

Soon after on 3/26/1979, the Egypt-Israel Peace Treaty was signed in Washington when Israel gave up land. Then on 3/28/1979 the worst nuclear power plant disaster in U.S. history hit THREE MILE ISLAND NUCLEAR MELTDOWN in Dauphin County, Pennsylvania.

On October 30th, 1991 President George H. W. Bush opened the Madrid Peace Conference which brought Israelis and Palestinians together to negotiate for the very first time. Bush told Israel that "territorial compromise is essential for peace". The next day on October 31, 1991 at President Bush's home in KENNEBUNKPORT, ME Hurricane Bob, North Atlantic storm struck with waves as high as his three-story house hit.

Some more background about the The Madrid Conference of 1991; this conference was a peace conference, held from 30 October to 1 November 1991 in Madrid, hosted by Spain and co-sponsored by the United States and the Soviet Union. It was an attempt by the international community to revive the Israeli–Palestinian peace process through negotiations, involving Israel and the Palestinians as well as Arab countries, including Jordan, Lebanon and Syria.

On 3 November, the conference was followed by bilateral negotiations between Israel and respectively the joint Jordanian–Palestinian delegation, Lebanon and Syria. Subsequent bilateral meetings took place in Washington from 9 December 1991.

In August 1992 the Madrid Peace Conference moved to Washington D.C. on 8/16/1992 Hurricane Andrew made landfall in Florida causing 30 billion dollars in damage. It was the worst natural disaster up to that time in U.S. history - it didn't dissipate until August 28, 1992.

On January 16, 1994 President Bill Clinton met with President Assad of Syria wanting Israel to give up the Golan Heights. LATER on 1/17/1994 the devastating Northridge earthquake hit southern California. It was the second worst natural disaster up to that time in U.S. history.

In August 2005, President George W. Bush convinced Israel's PM Ariel Sharon to remove all 9,000 Jews from Gaza turning it over entirely to the Muslims [aka Palestinians]. He did, and on August 23, 2005 Pres Bush praised him for it claiming the Palestinians should have their own state and on that precise day Hurricane KATRINA originated over the Bahamas making landfall as a Category 3 hurricane on August 29th in southeast Louisiana [New Orleans] lasting until August 31, 2005.

Are you ready for this rollercoaster? I wish you every blessing and strength to live a life in connection with God the Father.

The WEF

Davos hosting the World Economic Forum Conference

The World Economic Forum, an international non-governmental lobbying organisation was founded on 24 January 1971 by German engineer and economist Klaus Schwab.

Time duration from the end of the first WEF meeting, February 7th 1971 to start Presidential Election, November 7th 2023 in which Trump will win big, precisely 19,281 days are involved.

$$19,281 = 804 + 3*7*3 + 2685 + 3*7*3 + 7491 + 3*7*3 + 1947 + 3*7*3 + 5862 + 3*7*3 + 408 - 231$$

231 Gates of the Sepher Yetzirah or 231 Gates of Creation refers to 231 gates/lines connecting 22 Hebrew letters like a wall.

Holding the Swiss Alps at an altitude of 5100 feet Davos is the highest town in Europe the world economic Forum says it picked the Alpine Hideaway about 100 miles south of Zurich because it was the ideal Retreat to get away from all the trappings of daily reality. Another benefit in 1971 when the meeting was started by German economics professor Klaus Schwab the town of Davos had recently built a big Conference Center.

The world economic Forum Styles itself as an independent non-profit organization but it's also big business. Davos is all about access and in true capitalist form, the more you pay the more access you get with your status determined by the color of your badge. Journalists and activists get in for free but for everyone else who wants to be part of the elite Davos club fees range from the tens of thousands to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Companies like Salesforce and meta spend hundreds of thousands more to set up buildings on the Promenade where leaders schmooze potential clients and the media, sometimes at lavish late night parties.

That schmooze is key how paying participants get a return on their six-figure Investment. The point of Davos is to embrace the principle of stakeholder capitalism. The idea that businesses should serve all stakeholders, that is employees, customers and the public as a whole and not just shareholders. Davos comes under regular criticism in part for the gulf between how its participants see themselves in that mission and how the rest of the world, the other 99.99% sees it. The real change is catalyzed from increased Global coordination on attacking air pollution. You can't escape the optics of billionaires flying in on their gas guzzling private jets. JPMorgan Chase, CEO Jamie Dimon reportedly called Davos a place where quote "billionaires tells millionaires what the middle class feels".

Davos attendees list full Biden Administration and congressional delegation

January 11, 2023 by Jordan Schachtel

Jordan, an independent journalist presents a list that includes the full Biden Administration and congressional delegation that the U.S. is bringing to Davos this year for the World Economic Forum's annual meeting in Switzerland.

List includes the likes of FBI director Chris Wray, the CEOs of Amazon, BlackRock, and Pfizer, top officials at the Gates Foundation and in the Soros network, and the Publisher of The New York Times.

The Dossier has acquired a confidential list of every individual (excluding some government officials) who will be in attendance for the World Economic Forum's (WEF) annual summit in Davos, Switzerland next week.

The delegation includes some top Biden Administration officials — and very noticeably, two intelligence chiefs (DNI and FBI) — along with 13 members of Congress, which includes 10 democrats and 3 republicans.

The attendees list is a massive roster of some of the most influential and diabolical forces in the corporate, governmental and "non-profit" world. From the United States, this includes the likes of FBI director Chris Wray, the CEOs of Amazon, BlackRock, and Pfizer, top officials at the Gates Foundation and in the Soros network, and the Publisher of The New York Times, to name a few.

The World Economic Forum (WEF), through its annual Davos conference, acts as the go-to in person, invite-only, closed to ideological outsiders policy and ideas shop for the global ruling class.

The World Economic Forum is a fanatical political organization masquerading as a neutral entity, with specific policy goals that involve centralizing power into the possession of hand-picked global elites as the only means to save the earth from a claimed climate emergency.

The WEF is the chief coalition builder for what amounts to a public-private fascist movement. Over the years, they've partnered with the most influential individuals in business, along with central bankers, governmental head honchos, and international organizations, in order to facilitate their top-down vision for technocratic tyranny, or what they call "stakeholder capitalism." The WEF seeks to deliberately roll back human progress, innovation, and personal flourishing, under the guise of saving the planet from a so-called climate emergency.

Last year, the congressional delegation amounted to 19 members, 12 democrats and 7 republicans. The smaller delegation speaks volumes in the face of the massive blowback the World Economic Forum has received in the United States.

LEAKED! What the WEF is about to do at Davos 2023 REVEALED

On January 13th 2023 streamed on the Redacted YouTube Channel

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AH8d7vOP0wg>

You have all of the same players that are going to Davos to be a part of this. yeah this this really gets back to this ideology that is being Advanced by the world's economic forum and its partners and it's basically that they want to vacuum up all of the political and monetary power into the hands of a hand-picked group of mutually credentialing "Elites".

They want them to be hooked all to, basically be part of this Davos Circle and that the only way in is to pledge fealty to this extremist political ideology that they're obsessed with this notion that the world is coming to an end and we need to combat the climate turn back that knob and that requires of course rolling back all kinds of human progress and surrendering all of our liberties to the people who are going to Davos.

...Over the past year of course we've seen many of their plans come to fruition right, we've watched what's unfold have been unfolding in the Netherlands with the Dutch Farmers pulling back really stringent nitrogen rules in place on fertilizer, sweeping through Germany, New Zealand. We're seeing pushback from the likes of certain African countries, we're seeing pushback from Brazil...

They're just continually getting more and more aggressive with their agenda to the point that I think that they have actually exposed themselves. You've seen so much blowback particularly in the United States with a lot of people who prioritize human freedom and individual and National sovereignty, and they view the world economic forum and this Davos-in-person invite only closed doors meeting as kind of like one of the headquarters of this anti-human movement. They're always moving forward, they're just continually trying to centralize power into a particular set of Corporations and government entities which they have enormous influence over. And that's exactly what's on the agenda this year yet again.

The WEF Demands a Planned Famine: Germany Orders Farms To 'Cease Operating'

December 6, 2022 Sean Adl-Tabatabai

The World Economic Forum (WEF) wants to drastically reduce the world's population via orchestrated food shortages across the globe, which they will blame on 'global warming.'

This coordinated attack on the world's food supply was ramped up this week when the government of Germany ordered farmers to drastically reduce their use of fertilizers in an effort to comply with WEF's agenda.

Last week the Dutch government, also acting under the orders of the WEF, shut down 3,000 farms to comply with the Klaus Schwab's global warming goals.

Over the last year, the green tyranny bureaucracy of the EU has managed to nearly destroy Western Europe's energy relationship with Russia, leaving the continent desperate for energy inputs to keep its power grid functioning. Now, the food supply of Europe is under direct assault via multiple schemes that seem designed to end affordable food at the same time electricity is becoming unaffordable for businesses and residential households alike.

"Germany bans farmers from properly fertilizing land to serve EU green agenda," declares Breitbart.com. "As of Thursday, the use of nitrate fertilizers has been greatly restricted for large swathes of farmland in North Rhine-Westphalia," the site reports, referring to one of the most abundant food production areas in Germany.

The ban originates with EU bureaucrats waging war on nitrogen, the essential element that makes up nearly 80% of Earth's atmosphere and is critical for crop production. After having declared war on carbon — the building block of biological life — globalists are now targeting nitrogen as a means to deliberately engineer widespread famine and mass death (depopulation).

Globalists Are Taking Over the Food System — It's Part of Their Plan to Control You

The globalists' takeover of the food system is underway — if they control the seeds they control the food, and if they control the food they can use the digital ID to control consumer access to the food.

By Dr. Joseph Mercola

The globalist takeover is coming at us from every possible angle. Whether we're talking about biosecurity, finance, housing, healthcare, energy, transportation or food, all the changes we're now seeing have one goal, and that is to force compliance with the globalists' agenda.

The global food system, and protein sources, in particular, are currently under coordinated and intentional attacks to manufacture food shortages and famine.

The globalist elite intend to eliminate traditional farming and livestock and replace it with indoor-grown produce and lab-created protein alternatives that they own and control.

While the presence of hundreds of food brands gives the appearance of market competition, the reality is that the food industry is monopolized by fewer than a dozen companies, and all of them, in turn, are largely owned by BlackRock and Vanguard.

Eventually, your ability to buy food will be tied to your digital identity and social credit score.

The globalist takeover agenda is nothing if not comprehensive. They're coming at us from every possible angle, and whether we're talking about biosecurity, finance, housing, health care, energy, transportation or food, all the changes we're now seeing have one goal, and that is to force compliance with the globalists' agenda.

In an April 27 blog post, investigative journalist Corey Lynn takes a deep dive into the new food system being put into place, and how it is geared to control you:

“‘Who controls the food supply controls the people; who controls the energy can control whole continents; who controls money can control the world.’ This famous quote by Henry Kissinger is ringing more and more true by the week,” Lynn writes.

“The globalists already control the majority of the money, are moving ever so swiftly to convert the energy system over into systems they are all invested in, and have been taking drastic measures to control the food industry while running much of it under the radar. If they control the seeds they control the food, and if they control the food they can use the digital ID to control consumer access to the food.

“While a rash of fires suddenly destroy food processing, meat, and fertilizer plants, during a time where farmers are hurting and supply chain issues are kicking in, an entire traceable food infrastructure system has already been built in multiple cities and is making its way across the globe ...

“The USDA and FDA have already approved lab-grown meat, genetically modified cattle, and are funding the globalists to research and develop cellular agriculture as well as indoor growers and genetics companies ...

“Union Pacific is mandating railroad shipping reductions by 20% impacting CF Industries Holdings, the world's largest fertilizer company. Vanguard, BlackRock and State Street happen to be the top shareholders of Union Pacific, and BlackRock and Vanguard are the top three shareholders of CF Industries Holdings.

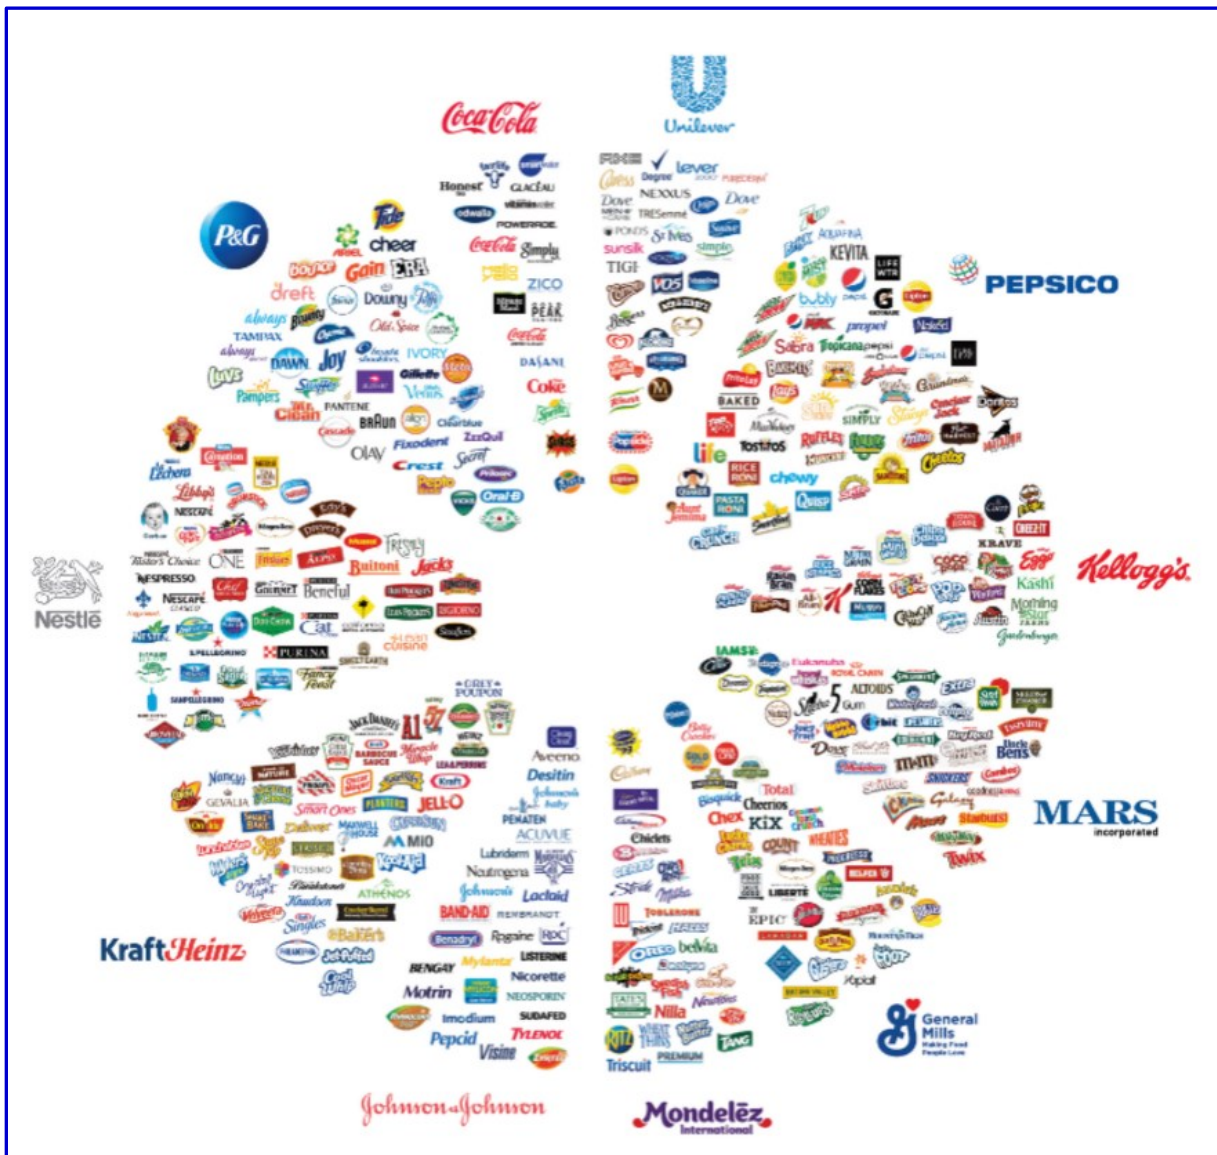

“By mapping some of the largest vertical farms, it reveals the crops, grocery stores involved, locations and billions pouring in by globalist investors and shareholders. It quickly becomes evident that this is the global plan to control all produce — ingredients that go into all food products.”

The secret monopoly

As noted by Lynn, this monopoly has been locked into place over the course of many years. Slowly but surely, the monopoly has grown, under the radar of public consciousness, which in turn has resulted in food getting simultaneously more expensive and less accessible.

Now, as the final pieces are being put into place, many are waking up to the realization that we've been massively fooled and are now at the mercy of a figurative "handful" of unelected people whose megalomania is unsurpassed in human history.

food brands chart

While the presence of hundreds of food brands gives the appearance of market competition, the reality is that the food industry is monopolized by fewer than a dozen companies, and all of them, in turn, are largely owned by BlackRock and Vanguard.

The growing fake meat market is similarly dominated by a very small number of large food giants which, again, are owned by BlackRock and Vanguard.

BlackRock alone holds $10 trillion in assets, up from $6 trillion in 2017. Combined, the three largest investment firms in the world, BlackRock, Vanguard and State Street, have ownership in nearly 90% of all S&P 500 firms. Through their investment holdings they secretly wield monopoly control over ALL industries, so the idea that there is competition anywhere in the marketplace is really just an illusion.

You never learned about their ever-expanding monopoly because they also own the centralized media. It's hard to tell which of the two is more influential. Vanguard owns a large share of Blackrock. Owners and stockholders of Vanguard include Rothschild Investment Corp, Edmond De Rothschild Holding, the Italian Orsini family, the American Bush family, the British Royal family, the du Pont family, and the Morgan, Vanderbilt and Rockefeller families.

Blackrock, meanwhile, has been called the "fourth branch of government," as they are the only private firm that has financial agreements to lend money to the central banking system.

Food security is undermined by patentable food

In 2014, the U.S. Congress established the Foundation for Food and Agriculture Research Act (FFAR) through the Farm Bill.

After siphoning off $200 million in taxpayer funds to get the foundation started, FFAR became a nongovernmental not-for-profit organization. Bill Gates is one of its funders, and its first board of directors included deputy director Dr. Robert Horsch of the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation.

The mission of FFAR is to "connect funders, researchers and farmers, through public-private partnerships to support audacious research addressing the biggest food and agriculture challenges." In reality, it's been used to undermine food security by increasing reliance on gene-edited and patentable foods.

In April 2019, FFAR launched the Precision Indoor Plants (PIP) Consortium, a public-private partnership of indoor growers, breeders and genetics companies with the shared goal of advancing speed-breeding and altering plant chemicals responsible for flavor, nutrition and medicinal value.

In August 2020, Monsanto/Bayer helped found a startup called Unfold, which develops new vegetable seed varieties specifically geared for vertical farms.

According to Lynn, "GMOs already account for 75 to 80% of food Americans consume," and once fresh produce is under patent, that percentage will inch closer to 100%. The University of California is also working on plant-based mRNA vaccines. The idea there is to disseminate vaccines through the conventional food supply, which puts a whole new spin on the old adage to "Let thy food be thy medicine."

"Bill Gates insists that droughts and climate change is destroying our ability to farm and that the future will consist of populations moving into metropolitan cities where indoor vertical farming is necessary to feed people. " If this is the case, why has he acquired 242,000 acres of farmland over the past decade while simultaneously investing in indoor vertical farming?

"Who gets to sit at the table with healthy produce served up by Gates while the rest of the population eats gene-edited produce from locked-down facilities, delivered to their local grocery store, and accessed only through a digital ID?" Lynn asks.

"Meanwhile, the Consultative Group of International Agriculture Research (CGIAR) holds the world's largest private seed banks consisting of 10% of the worldwide germplasm across the globe, which is controlled by the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, Rockefeller and Ford Foundations, and World Bank, managing 768,576 accessions of hijacked farmers seeds ...

“What’s going to happen to the farmers when these astronomically enormous indoor vertical farm facilities have taken over every major city, locked-in contracts with all major grocery store chains, and are funded by some of the same billionaire globalists who are seeking to control human beings through every industry for their fourth industrial revolution?”

“It’s a legitimate concern. Add ‘gene-editing,’ ‘smart,’ ‘traceable,’ and ‘net zero’ to the production of these facilities, and the fact that they are still moving full speed ahead on digital IDs and currency, and it becomes even more concerning ...

“Whereas this provides a lot of explanation on the absolute intentional demolition to all of our farmers on the seed, vegetable, and produce front, people should also be aware of what’s been taking place with cattle ranchers and the globalists’ plan to take over the meat industry as well.”

Controlled demolition of the protein supply is underway

As I explained in yesterday’s weaponized bird flu article, alleged outbreaks of bird flu and COVID-19 in food animals, along with drought and fertilizer shortages, have led to the mass culling of flocks and cattle herds around the world.

So much so, that we’re now told to expect egg, poultry and meat shortages.

Add to that a global fertilizer shortage that is limiting the amount of animal feed that can be produced this year, and the curious decision to limit U.S. fertilizer shipments on trains, which restricts the distribution and raises the cost of what little remains.

Experts predict it may take up to three years to replenish global grain stocks, and in the meantime, farmers won’t have a readily available supply to feed their livestock.

Canada-based Nutrien Ltd., the world’s largest fertilizer company, recently warned the shortage is likely to extend into 2023. The price of fertilizer has also “skyrocketed to absurd heights that have never been seen before,” The Economic Collapse Blog reports.

The U.S. and U.K. are also paying farmers to not farm all their available land, California is paying farmers to grow less, ostensibly to save water, and the U.K. is encouraging farmers to retire by offering them a lump sum of £100,000 — all while publicly predicting looming food shortages.

On top of that, the two largest water reservoirs in California have also fallen to “critically low levels” and wildfires are devastating agricultural land across the western half of the U.S.

Food production is being blatantly attacked and irrationally restricted on so many fronts, it’s clearly an intentional demolition of primary protein sources — meat, egg and dairy.

“Feb. 1, 2016, the Good Food Institute was launched ... with funding from the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, the Open Philanthropy Project, and Y Combinator, with the goal to ‘reimagine meat production,’” Lynn writes.

“In October 2021, the Good Food Institute celebrated the USDA’s $10 million grant for the creation of the first-ever National Institute for Cellular Agriculture at Tufts University so they can back researchers in manufactured meat.

“To be certain all of these goals are locked into place and the UN 2030 agenda is achieved, disrupting the fertilizer industry, food supply chain, and a rash of coincidental fires to food processing plants sure would help to seal the deal, wouldn’t it?”

The emperor has no clothes

In a blatantly self-serving gesture, Gates has publicly called for the West to quit eating beef and transition to lab-grown meats, ostensibly to address climate change.

He's also railed against legislative attempts to make sure fake meats are properly labeled since labeling would slow down public acceptance. Not surprisingly, Gates is financially invested in several faux meat companies. As luck or godlike foresight would have it, he's also invested in genetically engineered fertilizer alternatives. Lynn writes:

"Bill Gates explained his love for fertilizer in 2018 while in Tanzania. Coincidentally, Gates-led and Rockefeller-funded Alliance for a Green Revolution in Africa (AGRA) has been an epic fail, with a first-ever evaluation report that came out on February 28, 2022, after a 15-year effort with bold claims to rescue Africa's small farmers.

"Their false promise to 'double yields and incomes for 30 million farming households by 2020' was removed from their website in June 2020 after an assessment by Tufts University revealed little evidence of progress, and in fact showed a 31% increase in hunger.

"Evaluators stated there were many deficiencies and AGRA's reporting and monitoring data was weak. Even the German government is considering pulling funding from AGRA over their pesticide use, which is ironic because Gates claims we need to remove pesticides in the U.S. and move to indoor vertical farming ...

"One of AGRA's biggest achievements was their participation in 72 agricultural policy reforms in 11 African countries, pertaining to seed, fertilizer and market access. Laws were created to protect intellectual property rights for 'certified' seeds, as penalties were created for open-source seed sharing.

"Imagine being a farmer, homesteader or gardener and having to share and trade seeds on the black market so you don't get penalized. Anyone who believes they won't try this in the U.S. is kidding themselves, especially since the globalists hold the largest private seeds banks, and invest in the largest commercial seed companies ...

"On March 17, 2022, a notice was published to the U.S. Federal Register seeking comments by May 16, 2022, on Competition and Intellectual Property System: Seeds and Other Agricultural Inputs.

"Remember to read through the proper lens when reviewing this notice that derived from an executive order signed by Biden in July 2021 on promoting competition in the American economy." Their ultimate goal — every human being, every piece of food, resource, and product on this planet will be tracked and traced via blockchain. This isn't a theory — it is their goal.

"In July 2021, the FDA released their 'New Era of Smarter Food Safety' which consists of using tech-enabled traceability for a digital, traceable food system, from farm to plate using blockchain.

"A digital identity to grant access to establishments, control financial spending, and trace everyone's moves has been rolling out on multiple fronts, including the vaccine ID passport. Eventually, they will try to move toward a chip, as it will be easier with biometrics being installed everywhere ...

"There is no way to sugarcoat this system they are implementing. Whereas vertical farming is brilliant in many ways and could be beneficial on a smaller scale in communities, the fact that this is the global agenda to remove farms and control all produce by the globalists themselves makes it incredibly concerning ...

The World Economic Forum's 'Great Reset' plan for the food industry

by Jeremy Loffredo

The World Economic Forum's (WEF) The Great Reset includes a plan to transform the global food and agricultural industries and the human diet. The architects of the plan claim it will reduce food scarcity, hunger and disease, and even mitigate climate change.

But a closer look at the corporations and think tanks the WEF is partnering with to usher in this global transformation suggests that the real motive is tighter corporate control over the food system by means of technological solutions.

Vandana Shiva, scholar, environmentalist, food sovereignty advocate and author, told The Defender, "The Great Reset is about multinational corporate stakeholders at the World Economic Forum controlling as many elements of planetary life as they possibly can. From the digital data humans produce to each morsel of food we eat."

The WEF describes itself as "the global platform for public-private cooperation" that creates partnerships between corporations, politicians, intellectuals, scientists and other leaders of society to "define, discuss and advance key issues on the global agenda."

According to WEF's founder and executive chairman, Klaus Schwab, the forum is guided by the goal of positioning "private corporations as the trustees of society" to "address social and environmental challenges."

In July 2020, Schwab published a 195-page book, "COVID-19: The Great Reset," in which he challenged industry leaders and decision makers to "make good use of the pandemic by not letting the crisis go to waste."

TIME magazine partnered with the WEF to cover The Great Reset and to provide a "look at how the COVID-19 pandemic provides a unique opportunity to transform the way we live."

The Great Reset is meant to be all-encompassing. Its partner organizations include the biggest players in data collection, telecommunications, weapons manufacturing, finance, pharmaceuticals, biotechnology and the food industry.

The WEF's plans for the "reset" of food and agriculture include projects and strategic partnerships that favor genetically modified organisms, lab-made proteins and pharmaceuticals and industrial chemicals as sustainable solutions to food and health issues.

For example, WEF has promoted and partnered with an organization called EAT Forum. EAT Forum describes itself as a "Davos for food" that plans to "add value to business and industry" and "set the political agenda."

EAT was co-founded by Wellcome Trust, an organization established with funds from GlaxoSmithKline and which still has strategic partnerships with the drugmaker. EAT collaborates with nearly 40 city governments in Europe, Africa, Asia, North America, South America and Australia. The organization also assists the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) in the "creation of new dietary guidelines" and sustainable development initiatives.

global launch

According to Federic Leroy, a food science and biotechnology professor at University of Brussels, EAT network interacts closely with some of the biggest imitation meat companies, including Impossible Foods and other biotech companies, which aim to replace wholesome nutritious foods with genetically modified lab creations.

"They frame it as healthy and sustainable, which of course it is neither," Leroy told The Defender.

Impossible Foods was initially co-funded by Google, Jeff Bezos and Bill Gates. Recent lab results showed the company's imitation meat contained glyphosate levels 11 times higher than its closest competitor.

EAT's biggest initiative is called FReSH, which the organization describes as an effort to drive the transformation of the food system. The project's partners include Bayer, Cargill, Syngenta, Unilever and even tech giant Google.

"Companies like Unilever and Bayer and other pharmaceutical companies are already chemical processors — so many of these companies are very well positioned to profit off of this new food business which revolves around processing chemicals and extracts needed to produce these lab-made foods on a global scale," Leroy said.

In Schwab's book, he discusses how biotechnology and genetically modified food should become a central pillar to repairing global food scarcity issues, issues which COVID has revealed and exacerbated.

He writes "global food security will only be achieved if regulations on genetically modified foods are adapted to reflect the reality that gene editing offers a precise, efficient and safe method of improving crops."

Shiva disagrees. She told The Defender that the "WEF is parading fake science," and "for Mr. Schwab to promote these technologies as solutions proves that The Great Reset is about maintaining and empowering a corporate extraction machine and the private ownership of life."

EAT developed what it refers to as "the planetary health diet," which the WEF champions as the "sustainable dietary solution of the future." But according to Leroy, it's a diet that's supposed to replace everything else. "The diet aims to cut the meat and dairy intake of the global population by as much as 90% in some cases and replaces it with lab-made foods, cereals and oil," he said.

Shiva further explained, "EAT's proposed diet is not about nutrition at all, it's about big business and it's about a corporate takeover of the food system."

According to EAT's own reports, the big adjustments the organization and its corporate partners want to make to the food system are "unlikely to be successful if left up to the individual," and the changes they wish to impose on societal eating habits and food "require reframing at the systemic level with hard policy interventions that include laws, fiscal measures, subsidies and penalties, trade reconfiguration and other economic and structural measures."

But Shiva said this is the wrong approach, because "all of the science" shows that diets should be centered around regional and geographical biodiversity. She explained that "EAT's uniform global diet will be produced with western technology and agricultural chemicals. Forcing this onto sovereign nations by multinational lobbying is what I refer to as food imperialism."

The NEW Controlled Food System Is Now In Place , Food Control

“Who controls the food supply controls the people; who controls the energy can control whole continents; who controls money can control the world.” This famous quote by Henry Kissinger is ringing more and more true by the week. The globalists already control the majority of the money, are moving ever so swiftly to convert the energy system over into systems they are all invested in, and have been taking drastic measures to control the food industry while running much of it under the radar. If they control the seeds they control the food, and if they control the food they can use the digital ID to control consumer access to the food. While a rash of fires suddenly destroy food processing, meat, and fertilizer plants, during a time where farmers are hurting and supply chain issues are kicking in, an entire traceable food infrastructure system has already been built in multiple cities and is making its way across the globe.

Imagine a day where farmers markets no longer exist, you can't drive over to your local farmer to buy produce or cuts of meat, and the only food growing outside of the globalists secured indoor vertical farming and lab grown meat facilities, is in your windowsill, garden, or greenhouse.

The indoor vertical farming industry was valued at $5.5 billion in 2020 and is projected to reach $19.86 billion by 2026. Urban indoor farming controlled by the globalists is the future of food they have reimagined, and it's already in thousands of grocery stores without people realizing it. Whereas the U.S. is leading in this industry, this is a global agenda with vertical farms popping up across the globe.

For perspective, Bowery Farming's new facility in Arlington, TX will be able to serve 16 million people in a 200-mile radius. This is only one of dozens of vertical farming companies with massive facilities across the country, backed by big investors.

AeroFarms, who has the largest indoor vertical farming facility in the world, co-developed the first CRISPR-Cas9 gene-edited produce product, now hundreds are following, while National Geographic believes that gene editing is the next food revolution. AeroFarms also worked on an NIH sponsored trial to produce proteins for the Covid jabs.

The University of California is developing a plant-based mRNA vaccine in the hopes that farms can grow edible vaccine heads of lettuce.

Monsanto/Bayer is creating gene edited seeds for vertical farm companies, while Bill Gates, the Rockefeller and Ford Foundations, and the World Bank control 10% of the world's germplasms and hold some of the world's largest seed banks. Bayer and BASF, two of the world's largest suppliers of seed, are both involved with the vertical farm industry.

The USDA and FDA have already approved lab grown meat, genetically modified cattle, and are funding the globalists to research and develop cellular agriculture as well as indoor growers and genetics companies, while they slack on regulations for gene-edited produce. Well over a dozen major food processing and meat plants have coincidentally gone up in flames in the past several months.

Union Pacific is mandating railroad shipping reductions by 20%, impacting CF Industries Holdings, the world's largest fertilizer company. Vanguard, BlackRock, and State Street happen to be the top shareholders of Union Pacific, and BlackRock and Vanguard are in the top 3 shareholders of CF Industries Holdings.

By mapping some of the biggest vertical farms (below in this report), it reveals the crops, grocery stores involved, locations, and billions pouring in by globalist investors and shareholders. It quickly becomes evident that this is the global plan to control all produce – ingredients that go into all food products.

The endgame of the globalists, trying to take over the conventional food system

If Bill Gates and other globalists have their way, the days of everyday people growing their own food will soon be coming to an end. The globalists are attempting a full takeover of the food system.

What's behind the evil plan? Many believe the overarching aim of this massive takeover is to control people and the sustenance they need to survive.

The shift from natural to artificial is underway

Take a close look at your local grocery store shelves, and you'll undoubtedly find faux meat of various types, including that made by the likes of Beyond Meat and Impossible. Fake meat has even made its way into fast food restaurants, including Burger King. It is clear that a hidden global elite insists on replacing conventional farming, including livestock, with protein alternatives grown indoors that do not actually contain animal flesh. The problem with this approach is that it is chemical-focused.

Foods laden with all different types of chemicals are now replacing actual meat and fish to allegedly save the environment. However, with this approach, even if a shift to a vegan lifestyle were to help preserve the planet for future generations, such a monumental pivot to plant-based meals would inevitably be detrimental to human health as it requires the intake of a litany of chemicals in faux meats and other fake foods.

Corporations are leading the vegan transition

There is a common misconception that it is small-time farmers and the likes of entrepreneurs on Etsy who are spearheading the push away from omnivorism to vegetarianism and veganism. The truth is several massive publicly traded, and privately owned businesses are leading the shift to veganism. Check out the ownership details of some of the food industry's burgeoning companies, and you will find many are owned by enormous corporations such as Vanguard, BlackRock, Kellogg's, and other industry powerhouses.

It is also worth noting State Street, BlackRock, and Vanguard own more shares of stock in Union Pacific than anyone else. Union Pacific, a railroad specialist responsible for transporting food and equipment for farming, has reduced rail shipping by 20%, ultimately slowing the transportation of fertilizer that farmers need to grow crops. In other words, you don't have to don a tin foil hat to understand there is clearly a push for a small group of corporate farmers headed by the likes of Bill Gates and executives at corporations to scoop up farmland, grow the crops we need to survive and ultimately control people.

The worst-case scenario is a future in which massive multinational corporations control and own the ingredients used in the food the masses consume, combined with an outlawing of private farming on one's land. At the current moment, it is nearly impossible for a small farmer to compete with the low prices of corporate farmers, especially when backed by billionaires like Gates.

Does a cabal control the planet's food supply?

Keep digging into the mega-corporations noted above, and you'll find their top shareholders are from the "old money" families in the United States and elsewhere. Generational wealth is invested in these massive corporations, ultimately providing a small group of families with a significant amount of control over private industry, the food supply, and the health and wellness of people.

The solution? Start growing your own (organic) food, as much as you can. And, support your local, organic farmer ... we'll need them in the coming years.

Why millions of people are angry at Monsanto and the creation of GMOs

The facts are undeniable - science has proven that eating GMOs can cause cancer tumours, infertility and birth defects.

In the United States, the Food and Drug Administration - which is supposed to protect the public from unsafe foods and drugs - is being run by ex-Monsanto executives. Can you say 'conflict of interest'?

The U.S. government refuses to conduct long-term research on the effects of GMOs on human health.

The U.S. Congress and president have approved the (nicknamed) Monsanto Protection Act which bans the courts from stopping the sale of Monsanto's genetically-modified seeds. This, alone, proves how little politicians care about you and me.

In truth, most lawmakers care more about corporate interest and getting re-elected with the help of corporate campaign contributions (payoffs), than human health concerns.

Organic farmers suffer to make a living, while Monsanto and other bio-tech companies receive corporate handouts and political favour's.

<https://www.seattleorganicrestaurants.com/vegan-whole-food/gmo-roundup-bt-toxin-are-destroying-our-health-killing-birds-bees-lady-bugs-butterflies.php>

Genetically Modified crops are destroying your health as well as bees, birds, lady bugs and butterflies.

Like bees and butterflies, lady bugs are also an important part of our ecosystem and are essential to the biodiversity of our food supply. "Lady Bugs are tremendous carnivores that can eat lots of significant agricultural pests including aphides and mites without posing other risk to human health" says Doug Taron, curator of biology at the Peggy Notebaert Nature Museum in Chicago."

As essential as lady bugs are to biodiversity of our food supply, new research shows that Cry1Ab toxins (B. thuringiensis—BT toxin), Monsanto's best-selling herbicide 'Roundup' and crops that are resistant to Glyphosate are toxic to lady bugs:

Studies have linked Cry1Ab toxins (B. thuringiensis—BT toxin) mainly found in GMO crops such as soy, corn and wheat to a wide range of health issues including kidney toxicity and cancer. Research shows that when Cry1Ab and Cry1Ac found in GE crops are combined with Roundup, they can even be more toxic causing necrosis - the death of human tissue.

Researchers have also discovered that BT toxin could increase lady bug mortality by killing their larvae. According to researchers from the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology and Institute of Integrative Biology "When repeating the feeding experiments with the Bt toxin Cry1Ab using a combined protocol of both previous studies, again, a lethal effect on A. bipunctata larvae was observed. ELISA tests with Bt-toxin fed larvae and pupae confirmed ingestion of the toxin." GE crops resistant to BT toxin or glyphosate are also making Monarch and bee colonies to go extinct:

Butterflies pollinate about 75% of our food supply. There used to be over 60 million butterflies migrating to US from Mexico, so their larvae could dine on milkweed. However, over the last few years, the number of butterflies has been enormously declining, causing 80% decline in the presence of milkweed in US.

According to Iowa State University biologist, Dr John Pleasants, before Roundup, milkweed used to grow throughout the fields, but now there isn't a single milkweed plant to be found. Both Monsanto and FDA know that as Roundup kills unwanted weeds, it also destroys milkweed which is Monarch food.

While Roundup kills the Monarch food, the toxic pollen from GE corn full of BT toxin kills the butterflies:

According to studies, including the one by Cornell University, the pollen from Monsanto's GMO corn can kill the butterflies. According to researchers, none of the butterflies who eat pollen from organic corn died while 44% of Monarchs who ate pollen from GE corn (filled with Bt toxin) dropped dead within 4 days.

According to researchers, Bt toxin found in GE pollen goes into the gut of the caterpillar and it binds into specific areas like the butterflies' gut wall. As a result, the gut wall of the butterfly changes from a protective layer to an open sieve and pathogens that are usually kept within the gut are now excreted and released into the insect's body. This makes the caterpillar get sick quickly and die. The leading author of the study, John E. Losey, says "we need to look at the big picture here. Pollen from Bt-corn could represent a serious risk to populations of monarchs and other butterflies, but we can't predict how serious the risk is until we have a lot more data. And we can't forget that Bt-corn and other transgenic crops have a huge potential for reducing pesticide use and increasing yields. This study is just the first step, we need to do more research and then objectively weigh the risks versus the benefits of this new technology."

According to Cornell instructor in entomology, Linda S. Rayor, "Monarchs are considered to be a flagship species for conservation. This is a warning bell," says Rayor. "Monarchs themselves are not an endangered species right now, but as their habitat is disrupted or destroyed, their migratory phenomenon is becoming endangered."

Insecticides like neonicotinoids that are sprayed on 95% of US GE corn are responsible for extinction of honeybees:

Many studies have proven that colony collapse of bees is no longer a mystery and Neonicotinoid class of pesticides and clothianidin could adversely affect the immune system of honeybees by promoting replication of a viral pathogen in them:

<http://www.seattleorganicrestaurants.com/vegan-whole-food/gmo-corn-treated-with-neonicotinoids-pesticides-manufactured-by-Bayer-Syngenta-kill-honeybees.php>

Last year, 37 million bees were found dead in Ontario, Canada after planting large GMO corn field treated with neonicotinoid class of pesticides. Soon after, another study published in the Journal Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences revealed that neonicotinoid pesticides kill honeybees by damaging their immune system and making them unable to fight diseases and bacteria:

<http://www.seattleorganicrestaurants.com/vegan-whole-food/neonicotinoids-pesticides-colony-collapse-of-honeybees-suppressing-immune-system.php>

Enough number of studies suggests that Bt toxin found in the blood of 93% pregnant women and their unborn foetuses kills human embryo cells and is linked to leukaemia and anaemia:

A study back in February 2012 showed how BT toxin kills human cells. Shortly after, another study published by the Journal of Haematology & Thromboembolic Diseases has linked Bacillus Thuringensis (Bt) to blood abnormalities like anaemia and a type of blood cancer known as leukaemia.

<http://www.seattleorganicrestaurants.com/vegan-whole-food/study-links-gmo-leukemia-anemia.php>

Beside the side effects of Bt toxin, other studies have linked the active ingredient in Monsanto's Roundup called glyphosate with cancer, fatal kidney disease, allergies and organ toxicity. Despite all these compelling evidences, the biotech denies that GE crops are a big threat to human's health and the environment. Although Monsanto, USDA and FDA still deny GE harms to human's health and the environment, the fact is that wide-spread GE contamination is now threatening the livelihood of organic farmers, biodiversity and the integrity of our native food supply. Find out how US Farmers report widespread GE contamination:

Harmful pesticides: clothianidin, possible 10,000 times more potent than DDT

The spring of 2008 was brutal for Europe's honeybees. In late April and early May, during the corn-planting season, dismayed beekeepers in Germany's upper Rhine valley looked on as whole colonies perished. Millions of bees died. France, the Netherlands and Italy reported big losses, but in Germany the incident took on the urgency of a national crisis. "It was a disaster," recalled Walter Haefeker, German president of the European Professional Beekeepers Association. "The government had to set up containers along the autobahn where beekeepers could dump their hives."

An investigation in July of that year concluded that the bees in Germany died of mass poisoning by the pesticide clothianidin, which can be 10,000 times more potent than DDT. In the months leading up to the bee crisis, clothianidin, developed by Bayer Crop Science from a class of insecticides called neonicotinoids, had been used up and down the Rhine following an outbreak of corn rootworm. The pesticide is designed to attack the nervous system of crop-munching pests, but studies have shown it can be harmful to insects such as the European honeybee. It muddles the bees' super-acute sense of direction and upsets their feeding habits, while it can also alter the queen's reproductive anatomy and sterilize males. As contaminated beehives piled up, Bayer paid €2m (£1.76m) into a compensation fund for beekeepers in the affected area, but offered no admission of guilt.

The die-off forced a reckoning among European farmers. Hundreds of studies examined the safety of neonicotinoids, known as neonics, and their links to colony collapse disorder (CCD), in which worker bees abandon the hive, leaving the queen and her recent offspring unprotected, to starve. In 2013, the evidence led to a landmark European commission ruling, imposing a moratorium on clothianidin and two other major neonics – the world's most popular pesticides. This April, Europe went a step further. The commission extended the ban on the trio of neonics to virtually everywhere outside greenhouses, citing evidence that by harming pollinating insects, neonics interfere with the pollination of crops to the value of €15bn a year. Environmentalists cheered the victory. Regulators beyond Europe plan to follow.

Gates Foundation is destroying Africa's food economy

by F William Engdahl | Published: Sep 09, 2020

The same Gates Foundation which is behind every aspect of the COVID-19 pandemic from financing much of the WHO budget, to investing in favoured vaccine-makers like Moderna, is engaged in a major project in Africa which is destroying traditional small farmer production of essential food crops in favour of monoculture crops and introduction of expensive chemical fertilizers and GMO seeds that are bankrupting small farmers. The project, the Alliance for a Green Revolution in Africa, known as AGRA, is directly connected with key global institutions behind the World Economic Forum's Great Reset.

If we know the actual history of the Rockefeller Foundation and related tax-free undertakings of one of the world's most influential families, it is clear that in key areas the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation has inherited the Rockefeller agenda from the medical industrial complex to education to agriculture transformation.

The Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, working in tandem with the closely allied Rockefeller Foundation, is not only at the centre of the orchestration of unheard-of severe economic lockdown measures for the much-disputed COVID-19 illness. The Gates foundation is also at the very centre of the UN Agenda 30 push to transform world agriculture into what they call 'sustainable' agriculture. A keystone project for the past 14 years has been Gates' funding of something called the Alliance for a Green Revolution in Africa or AGRA.

AGRA fraud on Africa

WHEN the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation founded AGRA in 2006, joined by their close ally, the Rockefeller Foundation, they proclaimed their goal was to 'tackle hunger in Africa by working to achieve a food secure and prosperous Africa through the promotion of rapid, sustainable agricultural growth based on smallholder farmers.' AGRA promised to double the agricultural yields and incomes of 30 million small-scale food producer households by 2020. It is now 2020 and it has been a total failure in this regard. Notably, AGRA deleted these goals in June 2020 from its website without explanation. Based on what they have done we can assume that was never the true goal of Gates and Rockefeller foundations.

In a 2009 speech in Iowa promoting his New Green Revolution for Africa, Bill Gates declared, 'The next Green Revolution must be guided by smallholder farmers, adapted to local circumstances, and sustainable for the economy and the environment.' The Gates Foundation proclaimed that the AGRA 'is an Africa-based and African-led effort to develop a thriving agricultural sector in sub-Saharan Africa.' Sounds very nice. Reality is quite different.

To further that 'African-led' impression, Gates hired the former UN secretary general, Ghana's Kofi Annan. Annan had just retired amid an Iraq oil-for-food corruption scandal at the UN involving his son. Annan was to be the front face, the chairman of AGRA. In reality the Gates Foundation ran things, with their guy, Rajiv 'Raj' Shah, directing implementation of policies in African target countries. When initial attempts to push Monsanto GMO seeds and pesticides on GMO-free African farmers met with great resistance, they shifted instead to sell conventional but Monsanto-owned seeds along with costly chemical fertilisers and pesticides.

Suspiciously, the Gates Foundation and AGRA have been anything but open and transparent about what they have accomplished in 14 years. For good reason. The model they have pushed in 13 African countries has significantly worsened the food self-sufficiency of small farmers and instead created debt traps in which small producers are forced to take on heavy debt to buy expensive patented seeds, are forbidden to use own seeds or mixed crops, and forced to produce cash crops in a monoculture for export. AGRA has received more than $1 billion dollars from mainly the Gates Foundation, with USAID and the UK and German governments adding smaller sums.

False promises

In a new detailed report evaluating results country-by-country, the reality of the Gates Africa agriculture project shows alarming, but not surprising, results. The report is called False Promises: The Green Revolution in Africa. It was prepared by a group of African and European NGOs in collaboration with Timothy A Wise, senior advisor at the Institute for Agriculture and Trade Policy of Tufts University. The report concluded, 'yield increases for key staple crops in the years before AGRA were just as low as during AGRA. Instead of halving hunger, the situation in the 13 focus countries has worsened since AGRA was launched. The number of people going hungry has increased by 30 per cent during the AGRA years... affecting 130 million people in the 13 AGRA focus countries.' That is no minor failure.

In an approach that is little different from the 19th century racist European colonial practices, the Gates Foundation and its AGRA have seriously harmed small-scale food producers by subjecting them to high levels of debt. In Zambia and Tanzania, small-scale food producers were unable to repay the loans for fertiliser and hybrid seeds after the first harvest. AGRA projects also restrict the freedom of choice for small-scale food producers to decide for themselves what they want to grow. AGRA forces them to a one-sided cultivation of mainly maize for export markets, what global agribusiness wants. Not surprising as Bunge and other international grain cartel companies are involved with AGRA. Traditional climate-resistant and nutrient-rich crops have declined in alarming degrees in many cases.

The study found that for millet, an indigenous and vital cereal and fodder grain favoured for 7,000 years due to its productivity and short growing season under dry, high-temperature conditions, AGRA has produced disaster. The report notes, 'millet production fell by 24 per cent in the 13 AGRA focus countries from 2006 to 2018. Moreover, AGRA lobbies governments on behalf of agricultural corporations to pass legislation that will benefit fertiliser producers and seed companies instead of strengthening small-scale food production.'

Rather than help local small farmers to improve their yield per acre, the AGRA merely repackages the 1960's Green Revolution in Mexico and India for Africa, home to some of the world's richest farmland soils. That Green Revolution of the 1960s, initiated by the Rockefeller Foundation, introduced industrial large-scale agriculture mechanisation and introduction of chemical fertilisers and seeds from multinationals which went to the benefit of large farmers and destroyed much of the economy of small producers. That predictably bankrupted countless small producers. The result was that while select wealthy producers thrived, millions of poorer farmers were forced to flee to the cities where they settled in urban slums. But that in fact was a major aim of the first Green Revolution as it created a cheap workforce for the globalisation drive of manufacture that was to follow.

The Gates and Rockefeller foundation-led AGRA in Africa is little different. In 14 years, AGRA in Africa has influenced member governments to promote buying of multinational companies' commercial seeds every year and expensive chemical fertilisers, by promising grand gains that do not materialise. In the process traditional small farmers or farming communities are forbidden to use farm-saved or -bred seeds.

This is the same dependency model Monsanto and agribusiness has used with patented GMO seeds in the USA. The Gates Foundation is a significant shareholder in Monsanto, now part of Bayer AG. AGRA has done little or nothing to protect small farmers from being bankrupted by subsidised EU or USA imports. Instead their traditional food crops are being displaced by monoculture maize production for international export, leaving African countries more than ever dependent on more imported foods. The Gates AGRA is succeeding, but not in its cosmetic stated goals. Rather it has made African food production more globalised and dependent than ever on the will of global multinationals whose aim is cheap inputs. Under the ruse of giving farmers a 'wider choice' of patented high-yield seeds (mostly for maize), they in fact limit a farmer's choice. He must buy those seeds and is forbidden to reuse his own indigenous seeds. If at harvest time farmers are unable to sell his AGRA-mandated maize to repay his debt for seeds and fertiliser, they often are forced to sell their precious cattle or to incur even more debt — a classic colonial debt slavery model.

Dubious leadership

The Gates Foundation has promoted AGRA as an 'African initiative' and put itself as far as possible in the background. The new chairman of AGRA since August 2019 is Hailemariam Desalegn, former prime minister of Ethiopia. Desalegn, former chairman of the Chair of the Ethiopian People's Revolutionary Democratic Front, the dictatorial ruling party where the World Health Organisation head Tedros was also a politburo member, was forced to resign in 2018 following mass protests.

Less public board members of AGRA include two leading executives of the agribusiness giant, Unilever, and two senior officials of the Gates Foundation, as well as from the Rockefeller-founded Consultative Group on International Agricultural Research. Other board members include a member of the Rockefeller Foundation trustees and a former African partner for the French bank, Rothschild & Cie.

As well, the new president of the Rockefeller Foundation, the founding perpetrator of the AGRA agenda, Dr Rajiv J Shah, is on the AGRA board. Shah left his earlier position with the Gates Foundation and was named USAID director under Obama. USAID not surprisingly became a partner of AGRA. In 2017, Shah moved from USAID to be tapped as president of the Rockefeller Foundation. Small world. The same Rockefeller Foundation is deeply involved in the World Economic Forum Great Reset. Shah just released a Rockefeller report, Reset the Table: Meeting the Moment to Transform the US Food System.

<https://www.rockefellerfoundation.org/report/reset-the-table-meeting-the-moment-to-transform-the-u-s-food-system/>

It is a precursor to a major global 'reset' of the food system being prepared by the circles around Gates and Rockefeller and the UN. More on that another time.

Since 2014 the president of AGRA has been a controversial Rwandan former agriculture minister under the corrupt Kagame dictatorship. Agnes Kalibata also is a member of the Global Agenda Council of the World Economic Forum, the International Fertiliser Development Corporation, based in USA.

In December, 2019, just before the public alarm over outbreak of a 'novel coronavirus' in Wuhan China, UN secretary general, António Guterres, named Kalibata to head the 2021 UN Food Systems Summit. In response, some 176 organizations from 83 countries, wrote to Guterres to repeal her appointment. Their letter stated, 'Founded by the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation and the Rockefeller Foundation, AGRA's efforts have centred on capturing and diverting public resources to benefit large corporate interests. Their finance-intensive and high input agricultural model is not sustainable beyond constant subsidy, which is drawn from increasingly scarce public resources. Since 2006, AGRA has worked to open up Africa — seen as an untapped market for corporate monopolies controlling commercial seeds, genetically modified crops, fossil fuel-heavy synthetic fertilisers and polluting pesticides.' In her defence 12 voices wrote to Guterres urging him to stand firm. Eleven of the 12 had links to the Gates Foundation. Their voice prevailed.

During the global grain crisis of the mid-1970's the then US secretary of state Henry Kissinger, another Rockefeller protégé, allegedly declared 'Who controls the food controls the people.' The globalisation of world food production and creation of agribusiness, first guided by the Rockefeller Foundation and today with the Gates Foundation taking a more visible lead, is perhaps the most threatening factor to world health and mortality, far more than any coronavirus has shown. Notably the same people promoting fear and lockdowns for that putative virus are busy reorganising world food production in an unhealthy manner. It seems to be no coincidence as Bill Gates is a known advocate of eugenics and population reduction.

The Elite is Desperately Trying to Convince You to Eat Bugs.

They're using celebrities. They're using the "news". They're using the educational system. The elite is using its bag of tricks to convince the public that it should eat bugs. What's behind this massive push to drastically change our diets? Here's a look at this nasty agenda.

Most humans are naturally repulsed by insects. The mere sight of some types of bugs (i.e. cockroaches) generates in most people an instant feeling of disgust, while some succumb to outright panic and horror.

This near-universal trait in humans is believed to be instinctual. Our natural inclination to yell "NOPE" when a bug is anywhere near us could be our brains warning us that these things could bite, sting, infect or even poison us to death. Also, considering the fact that some insects feed on filth, decay, and excrement, the mere sight of them is enough for our brains to send an alarm signal telling us that something is wrong.

With all of that being said, the global elite (most notably the World Economic Forum) wants us to put cockroaches in our mouths, chew on their crunchy exterior, and swallow their viscous green interior. Indeed, the bug-eating agenda is seeping through mass media and even the educational system. The goal: To normalize and even glamorize the consumption of bugs.

So why are the powers that be laser-focused on the entire globe eating crickets, meal-worms, and cockroaches? Here's a look at the situation.

The World Economic Forum Hates You

To fully understand why the elite wants us to eat bugs, we must first wrap our heads around one important fact: They're looking to redefine what it means to be a human on Earth. They believe that we have too many freedoms and that we consume too many resources.

Mass Indoctrination

Several years ago, this site identified the gender-blurring agenda and predicted that it would be gaining steam. The least one can say is that was an understatement. Using mass media, schools, and sold-out governments, the elite made the gender-blurring agenda a priority and managed to redefine what means to be a man and a woman.

Well, the bug-eating agenda is on a similar path. Celebrities are eating bugs on camera." Journalists" are writing articles promoting bug-eating as an inevitability. Schools are making children eat bugs in class. Here are some examples.

First, here's a creepy video of Nicole Kidman eating live insects which she calls "micro-livestock".

Nicole Kidman Eats Bugs | Secret Talent Theatre | Vanity Fair

posted on the Vanity Fair YouTube Channel on January, 29, 2018

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=e3UqLAtdZ04&t=1s>

Other than using celebrities, the elite likes to use the “news”. A great number of “news” articles are actually thinly veiled attempts at propaganda.

The globalist agenda is desperately trying to convince you to eat bugs, check a headline from the BBC directly below:

“Lab grown meat and insects good for planet and health.”

There are a few things to note about the headline above. First, the push for synthetic “meat” is part of the same exact agenda. Second, this article was written by an “environment correspondent” and is filed under “climate change” as a topic. This is the angle taken to coerce and shame the world into adopting a diet based on insects and synthetic foods.

Of course, the elite knows very well that indoctrination is most effective on young people. It is during their formative years that humans adopt habits that will follow them for the rest of their lives. For this reason, the bug-eating agenda is infiltrating schools worldwide.

1. Lots of kids are eating bugs
2 billion people eat bugs, that's nearly one-third of the world's population.

2. You can educate others
You can teach people that there are at least 10 great reasons to eat bugs.

3. They're tasty!
Bugs are roasted and that makes them crunchy.
They can be flavored and eaten as snacks. They can even be covered in CHOCOLATE!

4. Bugs can't make us sick like meat can
Meat can carry disease. There's little chance of someone becoming ill from eating bugs.

5. They don't have to look like bugs
When bugs are made into flour, you can't even see them.

6. They keep us strong & healthy!
Bugs have tons of protein and that's good for your muscles and bones.

7. They're good for the environment
Bugs don't need much room, so we have more land for the growing population.

8. They can help end world hunger
Bugs are cheap to make into food so lots of people can afford to eat a healthy diet.

9. It's cool to try new things
It's fun to tell your friends how good they taste - and all the cool ways being an *entomophagist helps our planet.

10. They can help us stay fit & trim
We can eat them instead of fatty snacks like chips and french fries.

10 REASONS YOU SHOULD EAT BUGS

bugsfordinner.com

The poster on the previous page was specifically created to manipulate children into eating bugs. Using cheap psychological tactics, the poster uses arguments such as “everybody’s doing it”, “you can dip them in CHOCOLATE” and “it makes you cool”. Also, it argues that “meat carries disease” and “makes you sick”.

Apparently, insects cannot make you sick. That’s what the propaganda says. Let’s look at what the science says.

Why Insects?

The powers that be are laser-focused on humans consuming a specific set of insects namely mealworms, house crickets, cockroaches, and migratory locusts. Considering the wide range of potential foods that can be consumed by humans, why are they focusing on these few – and particularly disgusting – species? Is it truly because they are “sustainable” ... or is there a more nefarious reason behind it all?

If one steers away from the obvious propaganda and looks into the scientific research conducted in the past decades, some worrying facts quickly surface. The main one: Insects are toxic.

A 2019 study titled “A parasitological evaluation of edible insects and their role in the transmission of parasitic diseases to humans and animals” states the following:

From 1 January 2018 came into force Regulation (EU) 2015/2238 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 25 November 2015, introducing the concept of “novel foods”, including insects and their parts. One of the most commonly used species of insects are: mealworms (Tenebrio molitor), house crickets (Acheta domesticus), cockroaches (Blattodea) and migratory locusts (Locusta migrans). In this context, the unfathomable issue is the role of edible insects in transmitting parasitic diseases that can cause significant losses in their breeding and may pose a threat to humans and animals. The aim of this study was to identify and evaluate the developmental forms of parasites colonizing edible insects in household farms and pet stores in Central Europe and to determine the potential risk of parasitic infections for humans and animals. The experimental material comprised samples of live insects (imagines) from 300 household farms and pet stores, including 75 mealworm farms, 75 house cricket farms, 75 Madagascar hissing cockroach farms and 75 migrating locust farms. Parasites were detected in 244 (81.33%) out of 300 (100%) examined insect farms. In 206 (68.67%) of the cases, the identified parasites were pathogenic for insects only; in 106 (35.33%) cases, parasites were potentially parasitic for animals; and in 91 (30.33%) cases, parasites were potentially pathogenic for humans. Edible insects are an underestimated reservoir of human and animal parasites.

In short, 30% of the farmed insects evaluated by the study contained parasites that are harmful to humans. The full study describes each parasite that was discovered and noted that they were particularly harmful to the gut and lungs.

Other studies focused on chitin – a natural structural component found in insects’ exoskeletons. The 2007 study Chitin induces accumulation in tissue of innate immune cells associated with allergy states:

Antigens associated with insects, crustacea, helminths and fungi make up a considerable proportion of the environmental antigens associated with allergies and asthma in humans. Nonetheless, the common elements that link these widely distributed entities remain unknown. A major culprit might be chitin. Chitin is the second most abundant polymer in nature, providing the osmotic stability and tensile strength to countless cell walls and rigid exoskeletons. Reese et al.

have now found that mice treated with chitin develop an allergic response, characterized by a build-up of interleukin-4 expressing innate immune cells. Occupations associated with high environmental chitin levels, such as shellfish processors, are prone to high incidences of asthma, suggesting that this pathway may play a role in human allergic disease.

In other words, the study found that chitin causes an allergic reaction in humans. Maybe that's our bodies way of telling us that we shouldn't eat the exoskeleton of insects.

Another study about chitin concludes:

Chitin, a polysaccharide constituent of many allergens and parasites, initiates innate type 2 lung inflammation through incompletely defined pathways.

A study focusing on chitosan – a chemical compound made from chitin – discovered that its consumption leads to the depletion of vitamins in the human body, which leads to disastrous effects.

There were no histologic changes associated with the observed decreases in vitamin levels; however, the decreases were significant enough to suggest nutritional inadequacies. The long-term effects of vitamin A and vitamin E deficiencies are well-known, and it is unknown what deficiency-related effects would have been observed had these decreased levels been maintained for a longer period of time. When circulating levels of vitamin E, specifically α -tocopherol, are depleted, tissue damage can occur. Vitamin E depletion in humans has subsequently been correlated with anaemia, disruption of normal growth, decreased responses to infection, and pregnancy concerns. Vitamin A is essential in numerous biological processes and pathways, including growth, vision development, immune function, and metabolism. Severe vitamin A deficiency (VAD) results in disruption of normal tissue function and is associated with childhood blindness, anaemia, and depressed responses to infection; VAD during a severe infection may result in death. While the long-term effects of vitamin deficiency in rodents are not as well understood, the available literature on human deficiencies suggests that the decreases in vitamin A and E observed in this study may be detrimental over time.

While insects might show good nutritional value on paper, they might be outright toxic to the human body. Studies found that they can harbour parasites, affect the immune system, trigger allergies, and deplete vitamins from the body. Despite these glaring issues, the elite is going full-steam ahead with this agenda.

Creating a Crisis?

As the masses are being pushed towards the consumption of insects and synthetic products, some odd events are happening around the world directly affecting the food supply.

In the Netherlands, the government engaged in a war with livestock farmers because of “pollution”. The goal: To reduce the number of pigs, cattle, and chickens by over 30%.

Dutch government proposals for tackling nitrogen emissions indicate a radical cut in livestock – they estimate 11,200 farms will have to close and another 17,600 farmers will have to significantly reduce their livestock.

Other proposals include a reduction in intensive farming and the conversion to sustainable “green farms”. As such, the relocation or buyout of farmers is almost inevitable, but forced buyouts are a scenario many hope to avoid.

The Dutch cabinet has allocated €25bn to slicing nitrogen emissions within the farming industry by 2030, and the targets for specific areas and provinces have been laid out in a colour-coded map.

If the supply of meat goes down drastically, prices will go up drastically. This would open the way to insect farming coded as “sustainable green farms”.

In the United States, an unusual number of food processing plants have burned down in the past months.

There are lots of speculations surrounding Bill Gates’ farmland grab in America. Why is he buying so much farmland? A look at the official website of the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation provides some clues.

The Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation offered a grant to “All Things Bugs” a company that specializes in the production of insect-based foods.

Whether these facts are all part of a cohesive plan or not, they all lead us towards an increased rarity of meat and an increased supply of insects and synthetic foods.

In Conclusion

In the past months, we’ve witnessed the emergence of the bug-eating agenda. Using mass media and the educational system, the world elite is in full indoctrination mode to convince the world that crickets, locusts, cockroaches, and mealworms need to become an important part of our diet. The buzzwords used are sustainability, global warming, and pollution.

This call for a drastic change in food production is part of a wider plan by the WEF to completely reframe the human experience on Earth. They want the masses to be content with less as a growing number of resources will be deemed a luxury.

Furthermore, the bug-eating agenda might have an even darker motive. As shown above, countless studies documented the adverse effects of insects on the human body. Farmed insects can contain parasites harmful to humans, weaken the immune system, trigger allergies, and even deplete vitamins from the body. What better way to create a generation that is even more dependent on big pharma and, of course, vaccines?

Beyond all of this, there’s a near-spiritual component to it all. Considering the fact that humans are naturally averse to insects, why are they insisting on us ingesting them? Because, to them, bad is good.

The Bible about Foods permitted and forbidden

Leviticus 11

²⁰ ‘All flying insects that creep on all fours shall be an abomination to you. ²¹ Yet these you may eat of every flying insect that creeps on all fours: those which have jointed legs above their feet with which to leap on the earth. ²² These you may eat: the locust after its kind, the destroying locust after its kind, the cricket after its kind, and the grasshopper after its kind. ²³ But all other flying insects which have four feet shall be an abomination to you.

Looming food shortages: they're part of a planned globalist "Reset the Table" initiative

Right on time, the globalist plan for a "Great Reset" is now unfolding in real time. And just to be clear, all of it was laid out and planned years ago – meaning all of it is by design.

Many people missed it, but the Rockefeller Foundation told us several years back that there was a coming food crisis that would "Reset the Table."

The phrase "Reset the Table," by the way, sounds eerily similar to the Great Reset. It turns out that the former is one component of the latter, as the plan is to reset everything, including the global economy.

When the Rockefeller Foundation first announced the "Reset the Table" initiative, it was unknown by the masses what the catalyst(s) would be. Now we can clearly see that it was the Wuhan coronavirus (Covid-19) plandemic, which had just begun at the time, followed by Russia's invasion of Ukraine earlier this year. The "Reset the Table" document explains how the plandemic caused "a hunger and nutrition crisis" in the United States that was "unlike any this country has seen in generations."

Keep in mind that when this was stated, the plandemic had only been around for a brief time. There were not yet any shipping backlogs or supply chain issues, suggesting that the Rockefeller Foundation jumped the gun and revealed too early what it knew was going to happen in the months and years to follow. "The report also notes that it grew out of 'video-conference discussions in May and June 2020,' so we're to believe that two months into the pandemic, these prophetic minds already had the future all figured out," further explains Great Game India about the suspicious nature of the report.

"According to the Foundation, the pandemic revealed deep problems in the U.S. food system that need to be 'reset.'" Rockefeller Foundation admits it engineered the problems now plaguing our food system "Reset the Table" was also published just one month after the World Economic Forum (WEF), led by globalist Klaus Schwab, unveiled its plans for a "Great Reset," showing that the two things go together.

Dr. Rajiv Shah, the Rockefeller Foundation's president, wrote in the foreword to "Reset the Table" that the purpose of the publication is to unveil "a comprehensive playbook" for recreating the world's food system. This includes things "such as living wages, housing and transportation" for "all of us."

Interestingly, the document also claims that 94 percent of deaths from "covid" occurred in people with underlying health conditions, "the majority of which are diet-related," which is essentially what the plandemic skeptics were saying from the very beginning. "This is surprising, considering diet and nutrition were essentially absent from public discussions and reporting about the infection," notes Great Game India about the narrative manipulation that took place.

The reason why the Rockefeller Foundation knew in advance that all of this would unfold is because it contributed to engineering the crisis in the first place. On page four of the document, as one example, the Rockefeller Foundation admits that it engineered the so-called "Green Revolution" that turned large swaths of Africa into GMO (genetically modified organisms) plantations.

The Rockefeller Foundation also admits that "food is medicine," which is something that the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and other federal agencies claim is fake news. Only pharmaceutical drugs, we are told, constitute medicine in the United States.

“Time and again, the WEF and its global collaborators (including the Rockefeller Foundation) have ‘predicted’ the future with stunning accuracy, sometimes years in advance, and then when the predictions come true they pretend as though they had nothing to do with it,” reports state.

Globalists working towards the financial reset; the great collapse

A job-destroying economic vortex has just been unleashed: Large-scale layoffs will accelerate through 2023, impoverishing millions

Tuesday, January 10, 2023 by: Mike Adams

Quote:

Just as we predicted last year, a wave of layoffs has already begun in early 2023 with large workforce reductions announced across crypto, finance, real estate, transportation and Big Tech.

Crypto exchange giant Coinbase announced its cutting 20% of its workforce (about 950 positions) due to the FTX fallout that’s already ensnaring Gemini and DCG.

Goldman Sachs just slashed 3,200 jobs this week, according to CNBC, and Michael Snyder from The Economic Collapse Blog is reporting large job cuts across companies like Amazon, Vimeo, Salesforce, Silvergate Capital, Biocept and others.

McDonald’s, meanwhile, says it’s going to slash a whopping 200,000 worldwide jobs from its corporate staff, tightening its operations as we head into an economic environment in which fewer consumers can even afford Chicken McNuggets.

Coming next month, Stellantis will close its Illinois auto factory, slashing 1,350 workers and likely shifting its operations to Mexico. The reason for the shut down? The high cost of manufacturing electric vehicles. Via FreightWaves.com:

There are also huge job losses in the transportation sector as demand for consumer goods plummets. Industries getting hit hard include crypto, finance, real estate, transportation, tech, e-commerce and more

Ongoing money printing by the US Treasury and Federal Reserve — with the federal government now $31 trillion in debt — is destroying the value of the dollar and causing price inflation in nearly everything that people consume: Food, fuel, clothing, appliances, home goods and more. What many American consumers haven’t yet figured out is that the dollar is eventually going to zero.

Ongoing money printing by the US Treasury and Federal Reserve — with the federal government now $31 trillion in debt — is destroying the value of the dollar and causing price inflation in nearly everything that people consume: Food, fuel, clothing, appliances, home goods and more. What many American consumers haven’t yet figured out is that the dollar is eventually going to zero. On the way down, it will lose value each day. The current rate of value loss is approaching 2% per month, and as a result, many consumer items will nearly double in price in 2023.

Crypto is also getting hammered from multiple angles, far beyond the FTX collapse. It seems likely that Gemini is going to declare bankruptcy in the near future, potentially unleashing even more contagion pain for Binance and other major players.

Ultimately, the Tether house of cards is likely to come tumbling down as the great crypto digital tulip bulb mania scheme evaporates. This will gut tens of thousands of jobs across the crypto industry and turn former crypto millionaires into crypto zero-nares.

Bed Bath & Beyond is also on the verge of bankruptcy right now and looks likely to close nearly all stores nationwide. Get woke, go broke.

Real estate demand is plummeting, and luxury home sales have all but collapsed across the country. Commercial office space and warehouse space is in a glut, with even Amazon closing millions of square feet of warehouse space, leaving property owners in the lurch.

The bottom line? Consumers have run out of extra money, and as a result, they aren't buying nearly as much as they used to. Multiple economic sectors are going to feel the pain in 2023 and beyond.

And then the financial reset hits

Just when you thought it couldn't get any worse, globalists are planning to carry out a kind of global debt reset that would end many fiat currencies and attempt to drive people into Central Bank Digital Currencies (CBDCs), which serve as a control and surveillance system for governments.

In order to push people into CBDCs, the powers that be have to create a crisis. This crisis will, of course, consist of psychological terrorism against the masses, frightening them with super scary stories about cyber-attacks, bank failures and the like. CBDCs will be presented as the "safe" option for protecting your money, and numerous incentives will be offered to pull people in (such as Universal Basic Income payments, welfare payments, federal tax refunds, etc.).

The financial reset will obliterate dollar holdings, savings accounts, bonds, treasuries and more. Social chaos will spread, and governments will declare war against their own citizens, unleashing military forces onto the streets while declaring a type of martial law. Those people who were left holding dollars, euros or yen will be ruined, while those with hard assets (gold, silver, land, vehicles, buildings, etc.) will be able to survive the transition.

Understand that the controlled demolition of the economy is preparation for driving desperate people into CBDCs. First, the governments have to make people impoverished and penniless. This is done by raising interest rates and dismantling economic infrastructure, including energy infrastructure. Next, the value of the existing currency has to be obliterated. This is accomplished through money printing. Finally, the trap must be sprung by fomenting a crisis to be blamed on someone else (Russian hackers, for example) while playing the victim role — "the dollar is under attack!" This entire scheme works better when people are more desperate, starving and impoverished,

Israel/US Joint Military Exercise Sends Strong Warning to Iran

US and Israel launch largest military exercise ever despite concerns over Netanyahu's government.

The US and Israel launched their largest joint military exercise ever on Monday, January 23th 2023, sending a clear signal to Iran and underscoring the strength of their alliance despite concerns over the composition of the new Israeli government which includes ultra-nationalist and ultra-religious parties.

The live-fire exercise, named Juniper Oak, will include 100 US aircraft with fighters, bombers and refuelling aircraft flying alongside 42 Israeli aircraft. The USS George H. W. Bush carrier strike group will also take part in the exercise, which will cover all the domains of warfare to include space and electronic warfare.

"We can't really find another (exercise) that even kind of comes close," said a senior US defence official. Nearly 6,500 US personnel will participate in the exercise, as well as more than 1,100 Israeli personnel, the official said.

The exercise comes despite concern over the makeup of Israel's new government under Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu who has appointed ministers once considered to be on the extreme nationalist fringes of Israeli politics including the far-right Otzma Yehudit party and the Noam party, which is opposed to LGBTQ rights.

"The security commitment that we have to Israel is irrespective of the particular personalities and particular government," the US official said.

The exercise comes as tensions between the US and Iran remain high. The Biden administration has introduced sanctions on Tehran following a brutal crackdown on protests in the country which have seen protesters executed. Negotiations for a new nuclear agreement have also stalled.

Netanyahu has consistently taken a hard-line stance towards Iran, vowing upon the swearing in of his new government to "thwart Iran's effort to obtain nuclear weapons." As recently as Sunday, Netanyahu said the US and Israel would hold meetings on Iran in the coming weeks, following a visit from US national security adviser Jake Sullivan.

"I was impressed that there is a genuine and mutual desire to reach understandings on this issue," Netanyahu said at the meeting.

Exercise came together quickly

The exercise, which marks a major increase in cooperation between the US and Israeli militaries, came together quickly, the official said, especially for something of this scale. Normally, such a large exercise involving so many different forces would take a year or more of planning, but this exercise came together in two months, the official said. Planning began under the previous Israeli government of Yair Lapid and finished under the current one.

US Central Command will lead the exercise. Israel was moved to Central Command's area of responsibility in September 2021 following the announcement of the change towards the end of the Trump administration. Despite the shift and the burgeoning ties between Israel and Gulf Arab countries, none of those countries will take part in the exercise. Instead, the US official said they will be briefed on it after its conclusion later in the week.

“These kinds of exercises – which CENTCOM routinely conducts with our partners – develop interoperability between military forces, increase military capabilities and are important to the security and stability of the region,” said Gen. Michael Erik Kurilla, the commander of US Central Command, in a statement. “The lessons learned during these exercises are exportable to our partners across the region.”

A previous US-Israel military exercise held in late-November was described by Israel’s military, the Israel Defence Forces (IDF), as a simulation of a “long-range operational scenario and long-distance flights,” including a “campaign against distant countries,” a thinly-veiled reference to Iran.

The US official stressed that this exercise was not intended to be a simulation of an attack on Iran’s nuclear facilities, but the official acknowledged that Iran would be watching and taking note.

“I do think that this scale of the exercise is relevant to a whole range of scenarios, and Iran may draw certain inferences from that,” the official said. “It would not surprise me if Iran, you know, sees the scale and the nature of these activities and understands what the two of us are capable of doing.”

Though the Biden administration favoured a diplomatic solution to Iran’s advancing nuclear program, negotiations over reviving the Iran nuclear deal, formally known as the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action (JCPOA), stalled. Iran’s violent crackdown on domestic protests and its provision of suicide drones to Russia’s military have made the prospects of reviving the deal even more remote.

Israel, which was vehemently against a return to the JCPOA, pushed for a more aggressive US posture toward Iran and has promised to act against Iranian forces in the region. The US has repeatedly promised under Democrat and Republican administrations that Iran will not be allowed to acquire nuclear weapons.

“We would prefer a diplomatic outcome,” the US official said, “but we have other capabilities, if required.”

Time duration calculated from this major military drill, January 23rd 2023, to start 33 day time window, September 16th 2023, in which an outbreak of war in the middle east is expected, precisely 237 are involved.

Developing relationships between China & Europe in 2023:

From a friend to a foe Europe's policy, vis-a-vis China has seen some changes and China isn't happy. China can stomach the fact that the U.S treats it as a hostile rival but China cannot afford to lose Europe too. Persistent U.S. efforts to draw Europe away from China have delivered at least some results. Does that mean China has given up on Europe that it's going to go down without a fight? Will Europe now truly get sandwiched between the U.S. and China?

China is about to embark on a diplomatic campaign in Europe's, China's top Diplomat will visit Germany and Belgium next month in a bid to reset relations with a skeptical Europe.

Wang Yi will attend the Munich security conference and visit the EU headquarters in Brussels sometime in February 2023 to hold crucial talks with the EU's leadership. Apart from Belgium, will also visit Germany. Wang Yi is now China's most powerful Diplomat, he has been promoted by Xi Jinping to the politburo. The Politburo of the Chinese Communist Party, is the Chinese Communist party's top decision-making body. He is now the director of China's Office of the Central Foreign Affairs Commission of the Communist Party. China is looking into ways to restore warmer relations with Europe through diplomatic engagement. That's not all, in November Xi Jinping also met the leaders of Italy, the Netherlands and Spain during the G20 Summit in Bali. One years reported tour of Europe comes in the backdrop of German Chancellor Scholz shows and European Council president Charles Michelle recently visiting China. French president Emmanuel macron is also planning a visit to China soon.

Saudi Arabia Enters Trade Alliance with China, Russia, India, Pakistan, and Four Central Asian Nations

By: Adam Isa Waziri On: March 30, 2023

Saudi Arabia has entered a trade alliance with China, Russia, India, Pakistan, and four central Asian nations. Moreover, the development arrives after news of the first yuan-settled energy trade, further lessening international reliance on the US dollar.

Specifically, CNBC reported that Saudi Arabia's cabinet has approved a recent memorandum to take steps toward joining the China-led security bloc. Additionally, the report notes that the move strengthens "Riyadh's eastern ties in a further step away from U.S. interests."

The past few weeks have highlighted the growing concern over the US and de-dollarization. Moreover, as the budding banking crisis continues and various macroeconomic circumstances abound, along the debt ceiling remaining a concern, international trade is seeking other avenues outside of the US dollar.

Now, following news of the first yuan-settled trade agreement, these steps have become clearly pronounced. Specifically, Saudi Arabia has taken notable steps toward joining a trade alliance with China, Russia, India, Pakistan, and four central Asian nations.

The Saudi cabinet approved a memorandum that awarded "Riyadh the status of dialogue partner in the Shanghai Cooperation Organization," according to CNBC. Subsequently, the joint coordination is a "political and security trade alliance," that is led by China.

The decision to join the SCO reported, "falls short of full membership," but continues expanding Riyadh's interest toward the East. Conversely, the decision follows a deal made in March for both Saudi Arabi and Iran to "resume diplomatic relations and reopen embassies in each other's countries.

Germany: USA Lock Horns Over Leopard 2 Tanks To Ukraine

German Chancellor Olaf Scholz told the US this week (mid-January 2023) that he wouldn't send the advanced leopard tanks to Ukraine until the USA sends its M1 Abrams tanks. The German leader argued that his country was strategically interlocked with the U.S France and other friends and partners adding that any decisions about weapons had to be taken collectively. Scholz said: "We are the ones that are doing the most, we are never doing something just by ourselves but together, with others, especially the United States, which are very important in this common task to defend Ukrainian Independence and sovereignty." Germany's condition comes as Ukraine is pleading to the West for more tanks to tackle a possible major Russian offensive in the coming weeks, meanwhile a number of nations, in particular Poland, Finland and the Baltic Nations have previously announced wishes to send the Leopard 2 to Ukraine but it hasn't got a formal go-ahead from Berlin to re-export yet. For context: The Leopard 2 tank is regarded as one of the best in the west, it weighs more than 60 tons and has a 120 mm smoothbore gun and can hit targets at a distance of up to 5 kilometers. Olaf shows fears that by supplying such advanced weapons Germany may be seen as escalating the conflict and provoking Russian President Vladimir Putin.

[And very soon we saw that Germany gave in to diplomatic pressure from America
Germany greenlights sending lethal Leopard battle tanks to Ukraine:](#)

BERLIN – Germany announced plans on Wednesday (January 25th 2023) to deliver main battle tanks to Ukraine, with the United States poised to do so too, a breakthrough Kyiv hailed as a decisive military boost but condemned by Moscow as a reckless provocation.

Chancellor Olaf Scholz said in a statement Germany would send an initial company of 14 Leopard 2 tanks from its own military inventory, and allow its allies to send more tanks from their own stocks till Ukraine could have two full battalions of these lethal war machines.

Two sources in the US said Washington would also provide dozens of its Abrams M1 tanks.

Four Reasons Leopard 2s & M1 Abrams Will Bite the Dust in Ukraine

The deployment of the recently-donated main battle tanks (MBT) to the Ukrainian conflict zone is unlikely to change the status quo on the ground, military experts claim. And here is why.

"The arrival of NATO tanks in Ukraine is overshadowed by the fact that during the 11 months of the conflict, over 2,000 tanks, including those in service with Ukraine and those supplied to Kiev by the countries of Eastern Europe, were destroyed," explained Russian military expert and analyst Alexey Leonkov.

"Therefore, the arrival of even a hundred or two hundred tanks is unlikely to change this trend," he continued.

According to the military expert, the Ukrainian Armed Forces' MBTs had been largely destroyed with old anti-tank systems and sub-caliber shells. Russia's most modern anti-tank weapons have not been at play in Ukraine yet, he noted.

Previous Wars Showed NATO Tanks Aren't 'Wonder Weapon'

Neither the German-made Leopard 2 nor the US M1 Abrams tanks are invincible, Leonkov continued.

This is not a 'wonder weapon' and everyone knows that. These tanks have already participated in various military conflicts with a varying degree of success. These military conflicts can be defined by the term 'colonial wars.' That is, technically developed states used these tanks in fighting against those who had problems with the modern military equipment, that is, with a weak enemy.

Comment from Alexey Leonkov, Russian military expert and analyst:

The Leopards' first combat experience, and battlefield losses, occurred during the US-led war in Afghanistan. In the course of fighting against the Taliban,* three Canadian and six Danish Leopard 2s were irretrievably lost, with another 15 Canadian Leopards were disabled but repaired.

Likewise, Turkey deployed dozens of its Leopard 2A4 tanks to northern Syria in 2016 and 2018 to fight against Daesh (ISIS) and Kurdish militias, where a dozen or more of them were knocked out by IEDs, suicide car bombs, or anti-tank guided missiles. Some of these armored vehicles were reportedly destroyed by the Soviet-era anti-tank guided missiles Malyutka.

The M1 Abrams' debut was during Operation Desert Storm, the US war with Iraq in 1990 and 1991, that aimed to drive the Iraqi army out of Kuwait. Even though the tank performed relatively successfully at the time, several years later, US tank battalions sustained losses in urban combat during Washington's invasion of Iraq. Reportedly, over 80 Abrams had been destroyed by then and 530 more had been forced back to the US for extensive repairs.

Surprise Surprise! Russia Has Large Arsenal of Anti-Tank Weapons

"When these tanks arrive in Ukraine, a lot of [Russia's] anti-tank weapons, ground-based, stationary, mobile, air-based, various anti-tank systems will be waiting for them," Leonkov said. "For their part, the T-90M Proryv-3 tanks have modern guns that are capable of penetrating the frontal protection of these [NATO] tanks with armor-piercing sub-caliber projectiles (...) Do not forget that these [NATO] tanks will go without the cover from [Ukraine's] air forces and air-defense systems." According to Leonkov, both Russia's T-90M and T-72B3 main battle tanks are equipped with armor-piercing sub-caliber projectiles which could pose a serious challenge to the NATO MBTs. While T-72B3 is an upgrade of the aging T-72 tanks, the T-90M 'Propyev-3' has every feature that advanced western tanks enjoy and is quite on par with modern versions of the M1 Abrams and the Leopard 2, according to Russian designers.

In addition, a strike version of the Russian-made Marker robot is also due to be deployed to the Ukraine conflict zone. The robot will be capable of automatically detecting and destroying the German and US-made tanks with anti-tank guided missiles, as Dmitry Rogozin, former director general of the Russian federal space agency Roscosmos, revealed to Sputnik earlier this week. The [announced] number of [NATO] tanks is absolutely not enough to carry out any kind of tactical or operational-practical operation. Much more tanks are required for that. However, even with an advantage in tanks, it would be difficult for them to overcome the anti-tank weapons systems possessed by Russia.

Why Sending Leopard 2 & M1 Abrams Tanks to Ukraine is NATO's Grave Mistake

Deployment will take time, but Russia won't wait, moreover, the German-made and US-made tanks will be sent in batches and are likely to be deployed gradually on the Ukrainian battlefield, Leonid Reshetnikov, retired lieutenant general of Russia's Foreign Intelligence Service (SVR) told Sputnik. The impact of the Abrams and Leopards [on the situation on the battlefield] will be stretched out over time and will not play a significant role in the next quarter, and maybe even six months. German tanks will arrive no sooner than in a month and a half or two months. The tanks will not arrive in a single package, but at intervals of several weeks. As announced, 31 American tanks Abrams will appear in Ukraine in three four or five months. Training takes an average of 7-8 weeks. Then the question arises as to when and how [Ukrainian] crews will be trained.
