AL-QAEDA 2.0

The upcoming Attack on the United States and Europe Unveiled

AL-QAEDA 2.0

The Upcoming Attack on the United States and Europe Unveiled

William Archer

For the Transatlantic Intelligence Consortium

Author: The Transatlantic Intelligence Consortium
Coverdesign: The Transatlantic Intelligence Consortium

Copyright © 2024 by: The Transatlantic Intelligence Consortium

All rights reserved.

No portion of this book may be reproduced in any form without written permission from the publisher or author, except as permitted by U.S. or European copyright laws. This publication is designed to provide accurate and authoritative information in regard to the subject matter covered. It is sold with the understanding that neither the author nor the publisher is engaged in rendering legal, investment, accounting or other professional services. While the publisher and author have used their best efforts in preparing this book, they make no representations or warranties with respect to the accuracy or completeness of the contents of this book and specifically disclaim any implied warranties of merchantability or fitness for a particular purpose. No warranty may be created or extended by sales representatives or written sales materials. Neither the publisher nor the author shall be liable for any loss of profit or any other commercial damages, including but not limited to special, incidental, consequential, personal, or other damages.

“What America and its allies fear the most is that we take the battlefield from Kabul, Baghdad and Gaza to Washington, London, Paris and Tel Aviv and to take it to all the American, Jewish and Western interests in the World”

Hamza Bin Laden
Emir Al-Qaeda

About the Author and contributors

The information in this book from the Transatlantic Intelligence Consortium comes from a small group of former intelligence officers and agents from the US and Europe, brought together by a common purpose and a shared history. Our journey into the world of intelligence began in the wake of the tragic events of September 11, 2001 - a day that not only changed the world but also profoundly shaped our professional lives. The devastation wrought by Al-Qaeda on that fateful day fueled our commitment to safeguarding our nations from the threats posed by global terrorism. Since then, our lives have been dedicated to understanding, infiltrating, and combating this resilient and dangerous organization.

We have spent decades at the forefront of the fight against Al-Qaeda. Our work has taken us across the globe, from the bustling streets of Western capitals to the remote, unforgiving terrains of the Middle East and South Asia. We have engaged in complex counterterrorism operations, built intricate networks of human resources and gathered intelligence that has been critical in preventing numerous attacks. Through our respective roles, we have developed a deep and nuanced understanding of Al-Qaeda's inner workings, leadership dynamics, and evolving tactics.

Our collective expertise is beyond theoretical; it is grounded in real-world experience and firsthand encounters with some of the most dangerous individuals on the planet. We have worked tirelessly to infiltrate Al-Qaeda's ranks, and gained insights that have proven invaluable to global counterterrorism efforts. Our backgrounds in human intelligence (HUMINT) have taught us the importance of building trust with our sources - often under incredibly challenging and life-threatening circumstances.

Following the fall of Kabul in August 2021, we recognized an urgent need to adapt and expand our intelligence-gathering efforts. All the Western Afghan sources had their phones shut off on August 30th 2021, something that had felt like a 'digital guillotine' to them, they knew they were abandoned. The rapid changes in Afghanistan's political landscape, coupled with the resurgence of the Taliban, created a volatile environment that Al-Qaeda could exploit to regroup and plan new attacks.

Over the past three years, we have successfully built a vast and reliable intelligence network that now includes over 50 sources, many of whom are embedded close to the Taliban and Al-Qaeda leadership.

This network has provided us with unparalleled access to information that is both credible and detailed. By adhering to the principle of “one source = no source,” we have meticulously cross verified every piece of intelligence, ensuring its accuracy before drawing any conclusions. This rigorous approach has allowed us to compile a comprehensive picture of Al-Qaeda’s current activities, strategies, and, most alarmingly, its plans for future attacks.

The intelligence gathered points to a chilling and imminent threat intended to surpass the horrors of 9/11. This threat compels us to write this book and share our findings. We hope that our insights will help raise awareness, encourage preparedness, and ultimately contribute to a safer world.

The fight against terrorism is far from over, more than ever, it requires the vigilance and cooperation of all who value peace and security.

Table of Contents

About the author and contributors 7.

Introduction 11.

Chapter 1.
The Post 9/11 Evolution 15.

Chapter 2.
Understanding Global Jihad 23.

Chapter 3.
Al-Qaeda and the Taliban after 2021 29.

Chapter 4.
Inside Al-Qaeda 35.

Chapter 5.
Unveiling the Plot 49.

Chapter 6.
Sources and Credibility 57.

Chapter 7.
The Attack on the United States and Europe 59.

Chapter 8.
Projected Casualties, Damage and Effects 77.

Chapter 9.
Government Preparedness and Response 85.

Overall Conclusion 91.

Acknowledgements 95.

Appendix 1.
List of major Al-Qaeda (or Al-Qaeda affiliated) Attacks 97.