

Note 3

Dear You,
You are now reading a secret performance.
It's not on the program.
It's not reviewed in the newspaper.
It's just you,
this paper,
and the quiet hum of the, something behind you, I don't know where you are.
If anyone asks what you're doing,
just tell them you've been cast in the lead role of Person Who Accidentally Found Art.
Your performance is already perfect.
Warmly,
Office of Hidden Theater

I scroll.

That's what you do on a Sunday morning.

three hours later

I was supposed to be productive today.

I planned to cook tajine.

I planned to clean the house.

Do the laundry.

Finally wash my bed sheets.

But I am watching this cat make human noises.

Check my email.

Check the spam to see if I have any weird casting calls.

But all I see are TEMU products on discount and Black Friday sales on Ali Express.

Just one last video before I get up. Can't stop watching...

This guy cleaning the garden

Cleaning the carpet

Cleaning a very dirty house

Gosh, that is satisfying.

A woman eating a lobster...
And rice cake
And cheesy noodles with a huge sausage
Makes me realize I haven't eaten in ages.
At some point, I will get up.
Do groceries.
Cook.
Do everything I wanted to do.
Maybe shower.
Yes, that's a good idea.
Or...
I order tacos.
Stay in bed.
Even though I told myself not to order food anymore.
But today is a special day.
It's Sunday.
And it's cold outside.
So, I treat myself.
That's what I deserve.
Yes, I do.
