MEXICO

2021-2023

August 2021.

Since the Corona hoax was in full swing in the Netherlands, I had to leave the country.

Knowing the Corona "pandemic" to be a scripted event before it started, I went nuts with frustration. Seeing so many people buying into this nonsense, I had to escape the sheer insanity and brainwashing, which had at least 80% of the population in its grip. In the Netherlands the most idiotic "measures" were taken by the government: fines for not wearing masks, police terror and intimidation, scaring people with media lies, curfews, to name a few, so I had to get the hell out of the Netherlands.

I did some research online and found out in Mexico they were not having these idiotic measures – no fines, no mandatory masks, no police terror, so I decided to move to Mexico City for a while and see where the "pandemic" was going in Europe from a safe distance.

Enemy skulls from the Aztec period, pierced to be held by wooden sticks on the Tzomplantli (skull rack) of Tenochtitlan, the Aztec name for Mexico City in ancient times.

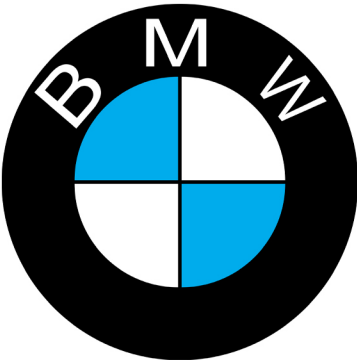

In Mexico death was and is not seen as a threat or something to be very scared of but as a necessity of life; without death, no life. An ideology very different from what is the norm these days, fear of death is used as a tool to control people. In the name of "safety", the population accepts the most idiotic, drastic, and inhumane measures of governments once gripped by fear.
