Biblical questions, the answers.

Foreword.

Dear readers.

This children's Bible book is the first to be released. This is expressed from the Bible, for the young children and those who are seeking faith, so that they may learn to understand God's word better. And that it may be an enrichment on your lives to get to know God, to learn to follow and to learn to trust in Him alone, our God and Savior Jesus Christ.

The Bible is quite difficult to understand, and many times we are in the dark. We can only really understand the Bible when God opens our eyes, otherwise we will read it, but we will not understand it. My hope is therefore in the Lord that He will shine His light on these words for all of you, that it may touch you! But above all, God wants and may bring close. And may it be a blessing to you!

May your heart be broken, and God's hands may heal your heart with his miracle ointment. May it comfort you in your sorrow, that it may encourage you in your moments of disappointment and sorrow. But above all, he wants to make a child of God. May you and you become part of that chosen people!

In this booklet, a number of chapters from the Bible are told in childlike language. Where it is in the Bible will be below the story.

The story is followed by a short explanation and explanation of the story, and at the back there are about seventy Biblical questions about the written chapters. In this small children's Bible you will find the Bible story, some explanation and explanation and some questions. This makes it fun for children and adults to learn about the Bible.

Finally.

Children and adults, the world attracts and swallows us. The devil does not sit still, and tries every day to keep us away from God's word and the way of life, away from our eternal salvation on life and death. The devil is cunning, yes the most cunning of all. And he will leave nothing to tempt us and keep us away from God! That is why you hurry and hasten to the Lord. Ask God for his light, for his guidance, and his word that it may open our eyes, and touch our hearts. You also hasten to your parents for your lives' sake. Present your children to God, for they are your fiefs. They have a soul for eternity. That is what God requires of us! But dear parents also for your own, flee to God with all your worries and needs, it is He who alone can save!!

Children and parents, the devil promises us everything. But he doesn't keep any promises, he always lies to us and laughs at us afterwards too. But remember, God fulfills all of his promises sooner or later. He does not forget us, and He does not abandon us. That's how it is written. (Seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all the rest will be thrown to you.)

Matthew 6:33. This means, first look for God and ask if you can be his child, Leave the evil things, leave what God does not like! And that you may walk with God to where there will be no end. Leave the devil and choose

God as your king, choose God as your Lord. And ask if he wants to be your father! And God will give you everything you need. He will provide clothing, He will provide food, and He will give you a shelter (a house). But the greatest of all, He will take care of your life and your heart!

Leave the bad and follow the good. We cannot serve God and the devil, we have to choose. For the preservation of your body and soul.

May these words be a blessing to you all, for time and eternity. I sincerely wish that for your children, parents, and adults.

Much wisdom, and God's blessing.

1. The beginning.

In the beginning, the world was dark, quiet and rocky. Nothing lived there, no animal and no person. There was really nothing at all but the high heaven where God and his angels lived, and the dark earth.

God looked from heaven and thought, I want to make a beautiful world out of this rough and wild world. I want there to be life on it, and I want to take care of it.

The Lord stretched out his hand and said, I want there to be light! And there was light at that moment. And God made a difference between darkness and light, and God said we call light day, and darkness shall be night. I also want God said, that there is rest in the night and one sleeps. So it became evening and it turned into a new day. So the first day passed.

The second day began, and God spoke, and I want there to be water in the world, but also in the air so that it can rain and it will moisten the earth. And the sky God called heaven. So it became evening and the second day ended.

So the third day began, and God spoke again. I the Lord want rivers and seas to come, and that there should be dry places between the sea and the rivers. And so it was that God said, the great waters I will call seas, and the small waters shall be the rivers. And the dry land between these two waters will be called the land. But God spoke even more, God said: I want there to be bushes and plants on the land with seeds that can grow in the ground. I also want trees to grow with fruit, so trees with pears, apples, tangerines and peaches. This is how God spoke, and at that moment these plants and trees stood on the earth. And God saw that it was good! Night fell and so began the fourth day. And God said I want there to be the sun, it gives warmth and a little more light on the world, and it will rule over the day. When it got dark, God said: I will make stars in the sky so that there will also be a little more light in the dark. And I will make a moon that will rule in the dark over the stars, so God intended that the sun and the moon should rule over the light and the darkness, and so God separated the day with the sun, and the night with the moon and the stars. And so the fourth day ended, and it was all good in God's sight.

The fifth day came, and God wanted to live on the earth and He said, I want there to be birds in the air and on the land. And at God's word there were sea eagles and ravens in the air, and on land the ducks and flamingos. There were all kinds of birds at that moment when God spoke, big and small.

And God saw the sea, and that it was empty, and He said, Let there be great and small fish in these waters, and swim in them. And at His mighty word there swam large sharks, a squid, the orcas but also the large whales. The smaller fish swam around it and the dolphins also jumped above the water in groups, but God also made the starfish, the turtles and the crabs. God saw all these animals and saw that it was good, so he blessed these animals and said, become fruitful and multiply! In easier words, God said, animals, I made you and love you very much. Also love each other so that you can make new animals together, so that many more of you will come into the world. And so the fifth day ended.

Then the sixth day began, and God saw all that He had made, and was very glad. The sea and the land, and the heavens and the earth. The waters that were made the sea and the rivers. The sun and the moon with its stars, and the animals in the sky and the sea. So the birds and the fish with the large sea creatures. The plants and the trees with the fruits and the seed. And God saw that all this was made right the way God wanted it to be, it was peaceful and good.

And God also wanted other animals, wild and tame in the world. And when God had spoken this, so were these animals, big and small. The lions and the elephants with the giraffes, and also the mice with the cats. The guinea pigs and the rabbits. They were all there as soon as God had spoken this. And the most wonderful thing of all was that the dogs played with the rhinos and the cats with the tigers. And God blessed these animals too, just as He blessed the birds and sea creatures!

Now God the Lord had made everything, well almost everything because there were no people yet and that is correct. So God looked at the earth from heaven and said, I want there to be a man on the earth. I will make this man in My image, and I will make him master of the world and all that will live in it under Me. And all animals will have to listen to this man.

And so it came to pass that God made it rain on the earth. And when these vapors (the dew) rose from the earth after the rain, God made man out of clay. And God breathed into man's nostrils, and man came to life, and God called man Adam. Which literally means human. God said to Adam, I will make you the boss of all the animals in the world. I will also send them to you, and you will name them all. And that's what they'll be called, and wear forever. God also said that man could eat the fruit of the tree, and the animals could eat from the plants and the grass. This is because every being that God made has a living soul.

When God had spoken this, all the animals came to Adam, and gave each animal the name of its kind. When Adam was done with that, God thought he doesn't have to be alone, and God made Adam tired and let him sleep. Then God took a rib out of Adam's body, a kind of a bone, and put flesh around it, and made this man a woman.

When Adam awoke, God brought the woman to Adam, and Adam said, Lord God, this woman is her bone of my bone, and flesh of my flesh. I will call her maninne, because she is made of man. And so it came to pass that man was put in the Garden of Eden to build and live there.

Now that Adam and Eve were living in the Garden of Eden, God showed them all that He had made. And how grateful they were. But God said one thing that was very important, and they had to remember. God said Listen carefully Adam and Eve, you can eat from all the trees that are here, but look at that one tree in the middle. You are not allowed to eat from that! It's mine! If you do eat from it, you will die! Because that tree is the tree of good and evil. Adam and Eve listened attentively and nodded.

Then God let them walk in the garden, and God saw that all was well.

Application:

Dear children and adults.

How wonderful when we can read and hear how the world was made in six days. The animals and all plants. If we think about how special everything has been made, then God deserves all the praise and honor in this! At first there was nothing, then only darkness and rock. But on a word from the Most High God and king and it stood and was there!

We have been given the world to live on, and we have to take care of it. Was it because we deserved it? No, a person does not earn anything by himself, We only get it through God's grace and love alone.

God blessed us with the animals around us, and with the food that we didn't have to do anything for. But if we think about the fact that all this has been lost because of the fall! Because now we have to work for it, not then. Now we have to work for it, but it is still through God's blessing, grace and love only if we are allowed to receive the food and drink for our bodies. Because if God's blessing is not on it, we will lack everything! We will come back to this further in the Bible.

It is also so wonderful to be able to see and empathize that we are made in God's image and that we are made from the ground of the earth. See also in this that what seems impossible to man, that with God nothing is
