Loving yourself is not an option.
It is a necessity.

Preface

Love does not exist in our minds.
It flows through our bodies,
like a giant river.

Strong.
Forceful.

It does not take commands
from anybody.
It does not heel.
It does not stop flowing because you want it to.

So why not just let it be?

1

Change or repeat.
The choice is always mine.

Question

What small thing can you change today,
so that you will end up in a different spot tomorrow?

2

Everything new, everything different,
every change
starts with me
making a different choice.

Question

What is a choice you can change at this very moment?

3

My love does not abide by any rules.

Question

So why do you want to control where it flows?
