A watercolor illustration of a colorful bird, possibly a kingfisher, in flight over a pond. The bird has a long, sharp pink beak, a blue head, a green back, and a reddish-orange breast. Its wings are spread, showing white and blue feathers. The pond below is blue with several fish swimming. Reeds and grasses are visible on the right and bottom edges. The background is a light, textured grey.

An illustration of two birds perched on a dark brown branch. The bird on the left is a yellowthroat with a black cap, black throat, and a bright yellow-green patch on its forehead. The bird on the right is a chickadee with a black cap, white throat, and a black breast band. The background is a light beige color with several white flowers and green leaves scattered around the branch. The text is located in the bottom left corner of the illustration.
