

One day there was a little girl playing in the living room. Her dad was out shopping, and her mom was working in the other room. She had left her a plate full of fruit. The little girl had all the time in the world to play as much as her little heart desired. She invited some friends over. In came Mr. Elephant, Miss Woodpecker, Mr. Hedgehog, Mrs. Peacock, and Mr. Giraffe.

First, she gave Mr. Elephant some fruit.

Mr. Elephant's trunk was long,
and he picked up a lot of cherries with it.

The little girl said, "Hey! This fruit isn't just for you, Mr. Elephant. It's for everybody.

Let's share." She gently took Mr. Elephant's trunk and began to walk him around the room.

When she got tired, she put Mr. Elephant down, and he fell asleep on the floor.