

Deep in an underground den,
Charlie and Charlotte Woodchuck are busy. They only have ten days left to prepare their home for hibernation.

Just as Charlie begins assembling his tools,
Bunny races by at full speed.

“Is everything okay?”
Charlie asks Bunny.

“My parents must harvest their carrots,
and they’re huge! We must finish before winter comes!” exclaims Bunny.

Charlie smiles, “Don’t worry.
I have a knack for harvesting food!”

“Will you help us?”
Bunny asks.

“Of course!
We’re neighbors!”