

“Ruby, bring your suitcase. We’re leaving!” Dad calls.
Today, Ruby is going on vacation.
She’s going camping for the first time!
At a campsite in the Green Park of the Big City.

Ruby has never been so far from home before . . .
Will she miss home?
Fortunately, Plushie is going with her.
“I’m coming!”

Dad secures Ruby’s suitcase on top of the camper.
Then they’re finally ready to leave.

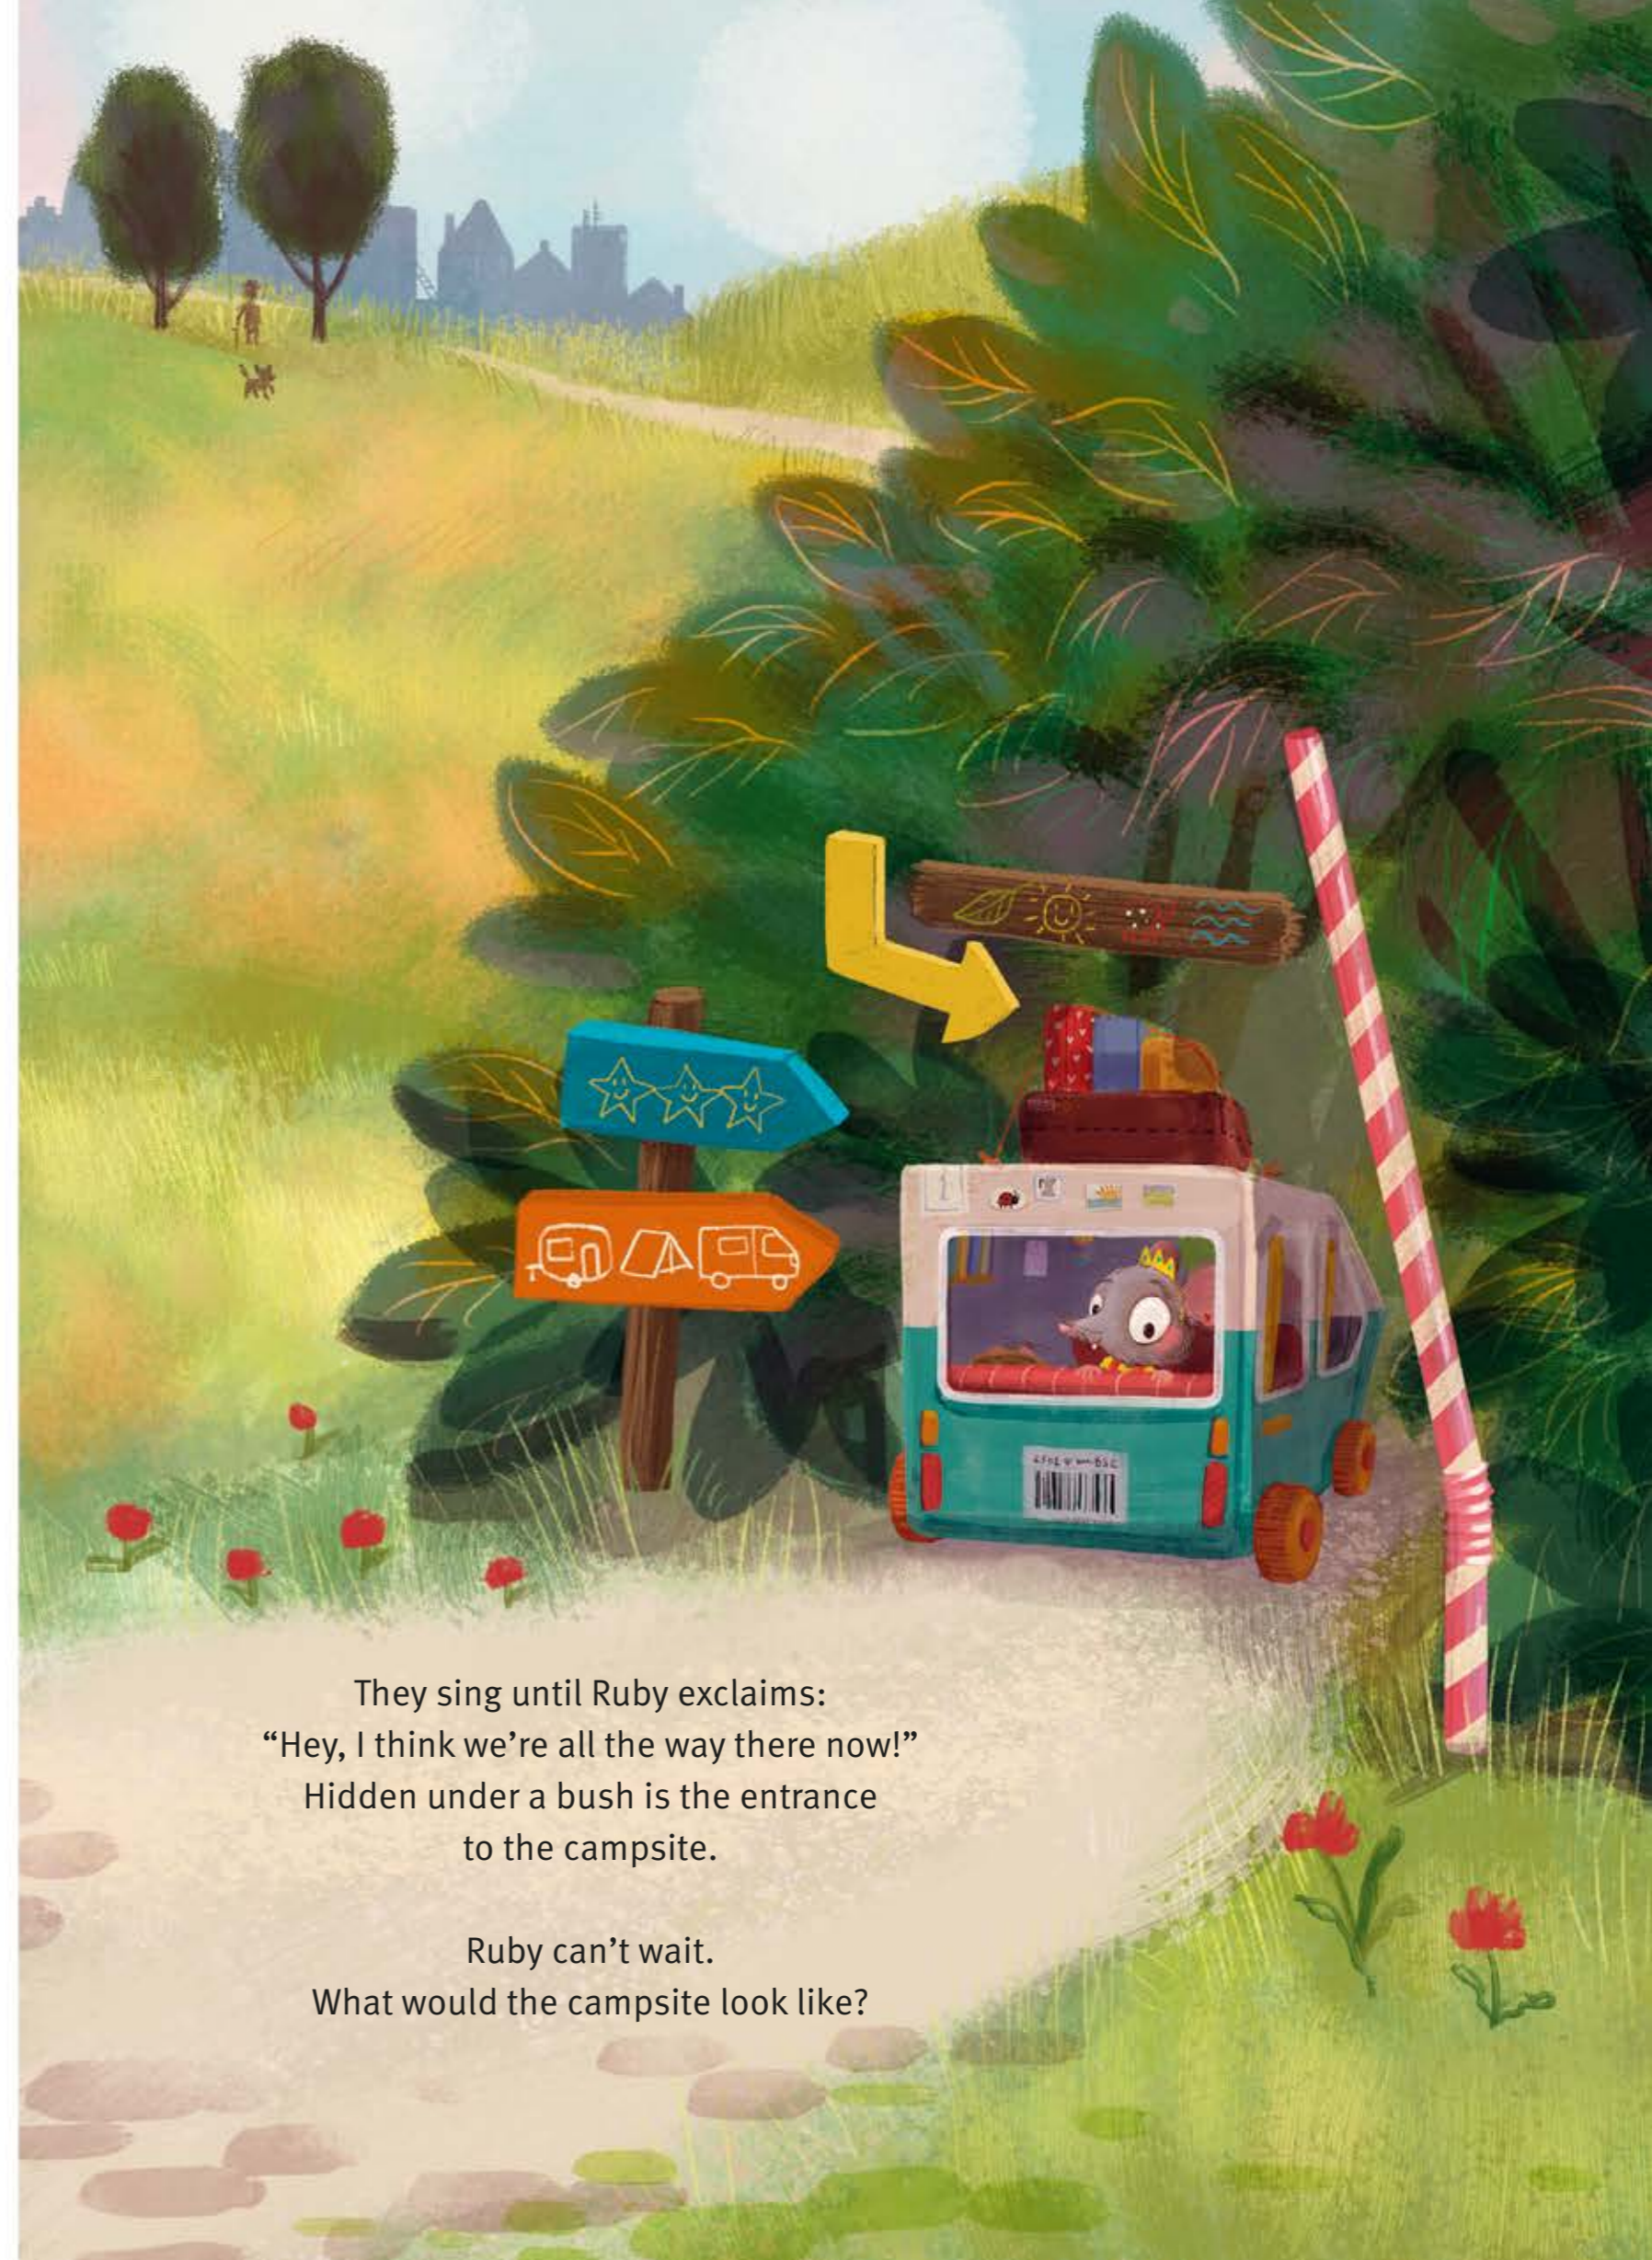

“What can you do at the campsite, Mom?”
“A whole lot, Ruby. But first, we have to drive for a little while. Buckle up, here we go!”

“Are we there yet?” Ruby asks.
Dad says it will take a little longer.

So, they eat yummy sandwiches and play a game.
When it takes even longer, they sing a song.

They sing until Ruby exclaims:
“Hey, I think we’re all the way there now!”
Hidden under a bush is the entrance to the campsite.

Ruby can’t wait.
What would the campsite look like?
