

“Let’s go, Jesse! It’s time to head for the school pond,”
Mom calls out. “Brush your teeth and put on your clothes.
We’re running late!”

Jesse the little goldfish doesn’t feel like putting on his clothes for school. His suit isn’t comfortable.
It itches and pinches and feels too tight.

Yet Jesse won't dare to go to school without it.
Since he's in a class full of piranhas,
he must hide that he's a goldfish.

Sighing, Jesse hoists himself into his piranha suit and quickly grabs his school bag as he swims out the door.
