

The forest was always lively—
full of constant hustle and bustle.
And today was no exception.

“Be careful! It’s heavy!”
“Don’t worry, it’s well-tied.”
“Alright! Now pull!”
“Done!”
“Great job! Next!”

In the largest, oldest tree in the forest lived a squirrel family who was very busy, with good reason. Soon they'd welcome a new member into their family. They were hard at work cleaning, sorting, and preparing.
