

Little Tractor lives on Big Oak Farm.
Lili the trailer is his best friend.
He has many animal friends, too:
Laura the duck, Leo the pig, Jules the dog,
Annette the chicken, and Anton the horse.

“Good morning, Jules,” Little Tractor says.
“Does your leg still hurt?”
“Yes,” Jules groans, “and I have work to do.”

“What do you need to do?” Laura asks.

“I need to move the sheep to the other pasture. They desperately need fresh grass.”

“That’s impossible,” clucks Annette. “You broke your leg.”

“I can move the sheep,” says Little Tractor.

“You?” Jules asks. “Are you sure you can handle it?”

“Sure! I’ve watched you a hundred times. Easy peasy!”

But Little Tractor drives off. He’s too excited to listen.
